THE KILT SUIT

Marks the first step from babyhood to boyhood, and is it surprising that mothers should be particular and want something nobby and stylish, a becoming pattern that will set off the perfections of the boyish form? And what wonder after making a weary round of the stores, she goes home and decides to make the suit herself, or have her dressmaker make it. What wonder, we say, for manufacturers have paid too little attention to the making of Kilts, and their prices have been too high.

We have changed all this, and invite mothers, dressmakers, and all interested in beautiful designs and combinations to call and see our fine assortments of Two-Piece Kilt Suits.

Lovely designs and beautiful patterns prevail, and here are the prices:

CAINE'S PLIGHT.

THE ARDENT TEETOTALER HAS A FALLING OUT WITH HARCOURT.

A Scene Between the Two Over the Sunday Closing Clause of the Local Government Bill Leads to Ill-Feeling—The Isle of Thanet Election—A Conservative Elected by a Reduced Majority—Bismarck to Be Present at the Meeting Between Emperor William and the Czar—Foreign News.

Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, June 30.—The House of Commons is engaged steadily considering the local government bill without making very rapid progress. A scene between Harcourt and Caine in regard to the withdrawal of the Sunday closing clause has led to much ill-feeling. The two antagonists now pass each other by in the lobby without speaking. Caine, although an ardent teetotaler, and in many respects a strong Radical, has conceived a fanatical hatred to Gladstone's Irish policy. Having determined not to endanger the existence of Salisbury's Government by forcing their own clause down their throat, he was anxious to find a plausible reason for his conduct and he denied, therefore, that he had ever been in favor of the clause or has had any conversation with Harcourt on the subject. He forgot that he had referred to it in conversation with Harcourt at the teetotalers' meeting. Caine, when interviewed yesterday, stated that the meeting referred to was private, no reporters were admitted, and he evidently was surprised that Harcourt knew what he said there. This, of course, only shows that Caine was prepared to deny the conversation with Harcourt, because he thought the fact that he had admitted that such a conversation took place could not be known. Caine feels acutely his position and vents his spleen on his fellow dissentients who, he says, leave him to bear all the obloquy of opposition to the temperance measure.

THE ISLE OF THANET ELECTION.

The center of interest, however, is not the House of Commons but the Isle of Thanet, where the election took place yesterday with a result not yet known. The constituency includes two popular cockney seaside resorts, Margate and Ramsgate, and some small surrounding towns. All that is certain at present is that the Tory, even if elected, will have a majority reduced from 2,088 to some hundreds. The fact that the poll was much heavier yesterday than in the two last elections is favorable to the chances of the Liberal candidate. As is notorious many Liberals refused to vote before.

DEPLORABLE STATE OF THINGS.

The trial of the turf libel action which ended yesterday, after occupying the time of the Lord Chief Justice of England nine days, in a verdict for the aggrieved jockey, Wood, with merely contemptuous damages, revealed a deplorable state of things in racing circles. There is not one prominent jockey who is not, by confession of the most eminent sportsmen, under grave suspicion of fraudulent practices.

THE TRAFALGAR SQUARE MEETINGS.

In the application for a rule compelling the stipendiary magistrate to grant a summons against the authorities for preventing meetings in Trafalger Square, the Queen's Bench Judges refuse to say positively that the Commissioners of Works had a right to forbid meetings there, but argued that Mr. Lewis, the Solicitor applying for the rule, had not convinced them that the Commissioners had not the power. Most people were under the impression that the onus of proof lay with the authorities. Moreover, Judges Wills and Grantham, who heard the case, are not celebrated for impartiality. Grantham is a bitter political partisan, who once compared Gladstone to the devil, and was rewarded with a judgeship for his services to the Tory party.

England.

ELECTED BY A REDUCED MAJORITY.

LONDON, June 30.—The election in the Isle of Thanet, Division of Kent, to fill the vacancy in the House of Commons caused by the death of Col. E. R. King-Harman, was held yesterday and resulted in the return of the Conservative candidate, Mr. James Lowther, by a majority of 658, he receiving 3,547 votes against 2,889 cast for his opponent, Mr. Knatchbull Hugessen, Gladstonian. At the previous election Col. King-Harman, who was a Conservative, was returned by a majority of 2,088, the vote then standing: Col. King-Harman, 3,399; Mr. E. G. Banks, Gladstonian, 1,311.

THE RACES.

This was the second day of the Sandown Park first summer meeting. The race for the Wellington Stakes was won by Lord Calthorpe's 3-year-old chestnut colt Satiety; Lord Ellesmere's 5-year-old mare Cataract was second, and Mr. S. Nesbitt's 4-year-old bay colt Lovegold third. The betting before the start was even money against Satiety, 6 to 1 against Cataract and 12 to 1 against Lovegold. There were eight starters.

THE BRITISH DOMINION STAKES.

The race for the British Dominion 2-year-old Stakes was won by Mr. Douglas Baird's brown colt, Eldorado. Mr. H. Waring's chestnut colt, Royal Star, was second, and Mr. J. Pritchard's brown filly, by Bruce, out of Mrs. Jones, third. The betting before the start was 5 to 4 against Eldorado; 11 to 1 against Royal Star, and 3 to 1 against the Bruce-Mrs. Jones filly. There were eleven starters.

Germany.

WILL MEET AT A GERMAN PORT.

BERLIN, June 30.—The interview between the Czar and Emperor William will be held on July 18 at a German port, on the Baltic Sea. Prince Bismarck will be present at the interview. Emperor William, when he received a deputation from Russian regiments on the occasion of the funeral of Emperor Frederick, said he hoped for an early opportunity to thank the Czar personally for his condolences.

HONORED BY THE CZAR.

The Czar has conferred upon Gen. Von Pape, the German Envoy to the Russian court to announce the accession of Emperor William, the orders of St. Andrew and St. Alexander Newski. He has also conferred upon Count Eulenberg, Gen. Von Pape's Ade-de-Camp, the order of St. Anne.

Sweden.

THE RECENT FIRES.

LONDON, June 30.—The property destroyed by the recent fires at Sundeval and Umea, Sweden, was valued at 45,000,000 kroner. Twelve thousand people were rendered homeless by the flames. King Oscar is visiting the districts and is engaged in relieving the wants of the sufferers. Houses, forests and standing crops on farms in other districts were also burned.

ON GETTYSBURG BATTLEFIELD

Wisconsin Dedicates Her Seven Monuments—Speeches and Exercises.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., June 30.—Wisconsin dedicated her seven monuments to-day on the Gettysburg battlefield. The exercises were held at Reynolds' Grove and within a few feet of where that General was killed during the first day's engagement. When Capt. L. E. Long, President of the commission, called the gathering to order and transferred the monuments to the representative of the Governor of Wisconsin, the level space before the stand was crowded with the veterans of the Wisconsin regiments. Gov. Rusk was not present and the State Treasurer, Col. H. B. Harshaw, accepted the monuments on behalf of the State. United States Senator Spooner then delivered an eloquent oration. The monuments were formally presented to the Gettysburg Battlefield Memorial Association by Gen. Lucius Fairchild. Gen. Fairchild spoke with great feeling and many of the veterans were moved to tears. Gov. Beaver, as ex-officio President of the Memorial Association, received the memorials in the name of the association, promising to guard and protect them. This closed the formal dedicatory exercises, but a number of speeches were afterwards made by prominent Winsconsin men. The seven Wisconsin monuments are splendid structures and are those of the Third, Fifth, Second, Seventh, Sixth, Twenty-sixth and Company G First Regiment Sharp-shooters.

This afternoon at 4 o'clock the New Jersey men will meet at their camp, and after visiting all of their monuments will return to the east slope of Round Top, where the brigade memorial is, and there hold the dedicatory exercises. Gov. Green will deliver the oration. This evening the Grand Army of the Republic veterans will arrive and to-morrow the reunion proper will begin. Gen. Longstreet was in attendance at the Wisconsin dedication this morning, and Col. Berdan of the famous sharp-shooters was also present. The weather is splendid. The clouds broke away at 10 o'clock this morning.

Gen. Alger and Party.

DETROIT, Mich., June 30.—Gen. Alger, who commanded the Fifth Michigan Cavalry, in the Custer Brigade, at the battle of Gettysburg, leaves for that historic field to-morrow, arriving there on the night of July 2. He will be accompanied by Gen. James H. Kidd, formerly of the Sixth Michigan cavalry, Col. J. Sumner Rogers of the Michigan Military Academy, Maj. Geo. H. Hopkins and Secretary of State Gil R. Osmun. These gentlemen were all members of his staff when he was Governor. Gen. Alger's sons will also accompany the party.

THE MUSICK'S FERRY TRAGEDY.

Conclusion of the Preliminary Examination of the Defendants.

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch.

ST. CHARLES, Mo., June 30.—The evening session of the court in the hearing of the Musick's Ferry tragedy, yesterday, was devoted principally to establishing the character of the defendants, and attacking that of Capt. Schmidt, the owner of the ferryboat. Some fifteen witnesses were examined, county officials and farmers. At 6 p. m. court adjourned until 8 o'clock this morning, when the hearing will be resumed.

In the continuance of the hearing of the Musick's ferry tragedy this morning, there were no new developments. Mrs. Irene Hunn, wife of Louis Hunn, one of the defendants, was put upon the stand. When asked if her husband had fired his revolver, the defendant's attorney objected to it and was sustained. All the witnesses have been examined and the arguments will be heard this afternoon. The result will be the holding of the defendants for the regular Circuit Court. The defendants did not testify.

A BRAVE OFFICER DOWNED.

United States Marshal Hector Thomas Shot by an Outlaw.

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch.

GAINESVILLE, Tex., June 30.—News has just reached here that United States Marshal Hector Thomas was shot yesterday by a desperado whom he was trying to arrest near Redford, Creek Nation. It has not been learned at this time whether the wound will prove fatal or not, but the news has created great excitement and anxiety here, where Thomas has a host of friends. He has done more towards capturing outlaws in the Indian Territory and North Texas during the past four years than all the force in the same locality. It was he that killed the notorious Lee boys, two years ago, in the north part of this (Cook) county. He and a posse have taken to Fort Smith as nigh as sixty prisoners at one time, captured in the Territory, many of whom were the most desperate characters in the country. People here fear he has been mortally wounded and restlessly await further tidings.

The Coffee Corner.

NEW YORK, June 30.—The representatives of the bull clique of the Coffee Exchange say that several of the shorts in June coffee settled yesterday. Three firms, however, so far refused to settle, and say they will only pay the intrinsic value of the coffee, but the clique is resolved that they shall pay the same price as the other shorts, and if they do not settle before noon to-day their names will be posted on the Exchange as failing to carry out their contracts.

Erecting New Blast Furnaces.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 30.—Seven hundred thousand dollars was placed in bank here yesterday to be used in the erection of three new blast furnaces in this vicinity. The furnaces are to be seventeen feet each. The projectors of the enterprise are H. F. Debardeleben of Birmingham and parties from Charleston and Savannah. Work is to be begun immediately. When these furnaces are completed there will be twenty-four blast furnaces in operation in Alabama.

A Burglar Killed.

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch.

NAVASOTA, Tex., June 30.—Robert Kelly, a young man, was shot and killed at 3:30 o'clock this morning at the Union Depot by R. L. Reed, Deputy Sheriff of Brazos County, while running away to avoid arrest. At 10 o'clock last night Kelly and another man robbed Reed & Reed, saloonists, at Millican, of $400. Kelly's partner, who was here with him, escaped. Fifty-four dollars of the stolen money was found on Kelly's person.

A Big Assignment.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 30.—The F. A. Gerst Co., white goods and notions, filed a deed of assignment this morning with the Louisville Safety Vault & Trust Co. as assignee. Liabilities $90,000, nominal assets $134,000, including stock of $53,000. The assets will probably realize $100,000. The assignment is the result of the recent death of F. A. Gerst, which made a settlement necessary.

Grasshoppers in Minnesota.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 30—Grasshoppers have recently appeared by millions in this vicinity and seriously threaten the total annihilation of crops. A vigorous warfare is being waged against them. Several contrivances for catching and destroying them are being used. It has been decided to pay $1 a bushel for the hoppers.

The Duke and Duchess Sail.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Among the passengers who sailed for Europe to-day on the Cunard steamer Aurania were the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough and Margaret Mather, the actress.

ANOTHER STRING,

WHICH THE COMMITTEE WILL PULL TO GET THE VOTING LISTS.

Two Meetings of the City Council at Which Unusual Tactics Were Resorted to by the Democratic Members—Progress of the Poll-Book Junk Bill in the Assembly—Meeting of the Jackson Club—Ratification Gatherings—Political Notes.

The Democratic City Committee will meet July 5 to consider Recorder Williams' proposition for the conduct of the primaries. Mr. Chas. B. Stark, the attorney for the committee, to-day said that he had received the Recorder's reply and would lay it before the committee at the next meeting. He could not say whether he would present any suggestions as to the committee's action on the communication.

In the meantime other methods of accomplishing the end will be considered. One of these was considered in the Council this morning when the unfinished business of last night was taken up. Some time ago Councilman Bell, in behalf of the Democratic City Committee, introduced a bill of the following provisions: Whenever there shall remain or be in the office of Recorder of Voters after any election more than five printed copies of the last registration lists, commonly called poll-books, for all the voting precincts in the City of St. Louis, which shall not have been used by the judges and clerks of election, such number above five copies of such books shall be deemed and held to be surplus and useless property and shall be subject to sale as provided by sections 2 and 3 of this ordinance.

Section 2 ordains that whenever the Central Committee of any political party shall apply to the Commissioner of Supplies for the purchase of the surplus copies of the printed poll-books he shall invite bids from such Central Committee and the Central Committees of all other parties, and shall sell to the highest bidder, subject to the approval of the Mayor, one of the surplus copies. In case of two or more bids for the surplus copy and the sale of the same to the highest bidder shall be approved by the Mayor, then the Commissioner of Supplies shall also sell other copies of the books without further bids to the other Central Committees bidding therefor for the same amount as paid by the highest bidder; provided that not more than one copy of the books for each precinct shall be sold to the same committee at the same time and provided that not less than five copies shall remain in the possession of the Recorder.

It was put upon its passage last night in the Council and passed, Mr. Comfort voting for the sale of the books in order to qualify himself to move a reconsideration of the vote subsequently. Before he succeeded in giving notice. Mr. Duross withdrew from the meeting and the Council was left without a quorum. Some time was spent in trying to get the members back to their seats, but the Democrats dispersed fearing that the Republicans might secure enough strength to have it reconsidered, and the Council adjourned until 10 a. m. to-day.

When eight members met to-day with Messrs. Vogel and Comfort representing the Republicans, Vice-President Blakeley directed attention to the motion to reconsider, which broke up last evening's meeting. Messrs. O'Malley and Bell started on the mover, who escaped by hurriedly withdrawing the motion to reconsider the vote by which the junk-selling bill had passed. Councilman August Frank then clinched the victory for the Democrats by moving the reconsideration of the vote to table the motion. As it will now require a two-third vote the Republicans have given up the fight. The bill was given its first reading in the House of Delegates last evening.

The Jackson Club.

The regular weekly meeting of the Fourteenth Ward Jacksonian Democratic Club was held last evening at their new quarters, southeast corner of Twenty-first and O'Fallon streets, and was well attended, several new members being initiated. The following new officers were elected for the ensuing year: D. J. Hoben, President- Thomas J. Quinn, Vice President; Michael J. Hennessy, Recording Secretary; John J. Denehey, Financial Secretary; John J. Burke, Treasurer, and Maurice Fitzgerald, Sergeant-at-Arms. Order of business being dispensed with Maj. John A. Flaherty, on behalf of P. J. Byron, in a neat and appropriate speech presented Capt. P. R. Fitzgibbon with a sword. Capt. Fitzgibbon responded briefly, thanking the donor for having so kindly remembered him and the club of which he has the honor to be captain. A parade of the club will take place next Tuesday evening, when the club will attend the Democratic ratification meeting.

Political Notes.

The Young Men's Republican League will hold a meeting this evening at Central Turner Hall.

The Twenty-Second Ward Democratic Club enlisted several new members at the meeting held last evening.

The regular meeting of the Twenty-fifth Ward Democratic Club will be held this evening at 3212 Hickory street.

The Thirteenth Ward Republican Club held a ratification meeting at Germania Turner Hall, Carondelet, last evening.

Last evening the Eighth Ward Republican Club added eight new members to the roll at a meeting held at Ninth and Carr streets.

It is reported that Capt. Robert McCulloch's name will be presented to the Eighth Congressional District Democratic Convention to be urged against John J. O'Neill.

The Nineteenth Ward Democratic Club adopted a constitution last evening in which Mr. T. G. Watts had inserted a clause prohibiting the indorsement of candidates before nomination. John Clark is President of the organization.

A. S. Knapper was elected President of the Fifteenth Ward Harrison and Morton Club, which was organized last evening at Franklin avenue and High streets. A constitution will be reported at the meeting to be held next Friday evening.

A Democratic Legion is to be organized Monday night at Baden.

The lady members of the Jolly Bowling Club will have a prize tournament to-night at Teutonia Hall.

The rising water forced a suspension of operations again to-day along the North St. Louis lumber landings.

The Wash Street Mission Sunday-school and the Fourth Christian Church united in a picnic to-day at O'Fallon Park.

Miss Emma and Minnie Bruning of 1514 Sallisbury street will spend the summer at Carbondale, Ill. They will be accompanied by their aunt, Mrs. J. Garland of St. Louis County.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Wm. Manning of No. 4258 Florissant avenue discovered a fire in a barrel of shavings in a shed on the premises which quickly spread to the shed, but was soon subdued by the lady with a few buckets of water. An unnecessary alarm was turned on by a neighbor. Damage trifling.

One of the Schergen Bros., whiteners, whose shop is at Broadway and Warren street, drove his horse and wagon into a pond on Glasgow avenue, between Penrose and Angelica streets, for the purpose of filling a can with water, when he suddenly got beyond his depth, the horse fell down and the wagon upset. The horse was drowned, but Schergen escaped by swimming. The accident occurred yesterday.

CAR HORSES IN WARM WEATHER.

A Method of Treating Them Which Makes Veterinary Surgeons Stare.

Every now and then some iconoclast will come along and rudely demolish orthodox images and the accepted laws of hygiene and health by incautiously taking into his system some alleged poison and stumbling upon a cure instead of a disease. Homeopathy's founder is said to have taken to heart the recipe adopted by the man of wondrous wisdom, who as Mother Goose relates, selected a bramble-bush as a demonstration that like cures like. And now some poor respecter of precedent has discovered a novel method of quickly cooling off a horse without killing him and in a manner that would open the eyes of many stable men. Every one who drives or rides for the most part clings religiously to the belief that, next to letting an overheated horse drink his fill, the best method of foundering him might be to suddenly immerse him up to the ears in a stream or pond. Yet this is precisely the method successfully adopted by the Southern Street Car line of St. Louis for relieving that furnish the motive power of the road. The stables are at forty hundred odd South Broadway, and President Johnson has fitted up a pond in the yards that is not unlike a sheep dip. It is moderately long and some six or eight feet in width, the water being of sufficient depth to strike an average-sized horse well up on the withers. The ends of this pool are sloping, and when a team is unhitched at the stables during the dog-days the horses are made to walk down the inclined plane at one end into the water and out at the other extremity. The brief bath is refreshing in the extreme, washing the sweat and dust from the streaming pores, and no sooner has a horse emerged from the pool than he is taken in hand by a hostler and rubbed down with a brush that cleanses the brute of mud, dries him and braces him up for his next trip. The pool is so arranged that the water may from time to time be allowed to run out and be replenished from a cistern. The bath is not a chilling one and the horses enjoy it hugely, no harm seeming to be done them by a process so much in variance with accepted methods. Ask the average stableman and he will tell you that such a treatment would be ruinous and cruel, and harsh to the beast, but if the pudding's proof is the morning following upon digestion, so is the live stock of the Southern line an ambling refutation of the wiseacre's charge.

THE TIRED AND SWEATING ANIMALS

PROFITLESS TO THE OWNER

The street car companies take the best care of their horses, and the Humane Society finds no cause for complaint in this quarter. It is interesting to note the attention that is lavished on the toiling brutes during the dog-days, and though the hypercritical may sneer that this is directly to the interest of the owners, it may be answered by transposition that this kind of virtue at least generally carries with it its own reward. Any close observer may when the noon-day sun is fiercest often see a driver stop his car to give his team a few sups of water from a bucket carried for the purpose, and the spectacle at the street railway terminals of horses being laved by the application of wet sponges is a common one. At the Vandeventer avenue stable of the Lindell Railway a machine brush for currying purposes is used, the horses being of a morning and never allowed to stand in their stalls covered with mud and dust. On one of the northwestern lines which uses pony mules exclusively there is a big yard where the little fellows are allowed to roam at will, and roll and wallow to their hearts' content. And the mule knows more than the average man where diet is concerned, for he will not overeat or overdrink himself, and if he is somewhat limber in the use of his hind legs, this is not the result of cramps. Some amusement was caused at the office of the Humane Society recently by the complaint of a well-meaning, but unsophisticated, woman. who gravely alleged cruelty on the part of the pony mule drivers because the diminutive fellows were kept at a lope. The progress that might be expected to ensue from a pony mule at a walk or trot struck the Humane people as very funny.

THINK IT WAS AN ACCIDENT.

The Sister of Henry Waldhaber, Who Died at the City Hospital.

The sister of Henry Waldhaber, who died at the City Hospital at 5:45 last evening from the effects of morphine poisoning taken the previous night on a St. Louis & San Francisco train, arrived in the city this morning from Highland, Ill., where she is engaged in teaching school. She was accompanied by a Mr. Todd, a friend of the family. They state that Waldhaber kept a barbershop at Sullivan, Ill., and did a prosperous business. He was not married and had no financial troubles. About three months ago his mother died and he has been in very poor health ever since. Three times he had been to Hot Springs by advice of physicians to recuperate and was on his way home when he died. He went to Monett, Mo., instead of coming direct home, because his physicians had advised him to travel considerably. Neither the sister nor Mr. Todd could believe he had committed suicide, and if he died from the effects of morphine poisoning he must have taken the drug to put him to sleep, as he suffered from insomnia.

Second District Police Court.

Officer John H. Holmes of the Humane Society appeared to prosecute Chas. Finke in the Second District Police Court this morning, who was charged with beating a boy, named Jacob Schuckett, about 13 years of age, who was also charged with disturbing the peace. Both Finke and the boy swore that the charge was untrue, but witnesses testified that they saw Finke beating the boy with a large stick, which was introduced as evidence. It was then ascertained that the boy had been threatened with severe punishment by Finke and his brother until he promised them he would testify in Finke's behalf. Finke was fined $10, and the case against Schuckett was nolle prosequied. Officer Holmes will have the boy removed to some charitable institution. Jas. Grunsphan, a junk peddler, was arraigned for careless driving and for peddling without license and was fined $25 in the latter case; James Nash, $20 for begging; Wm. Victor, $5 for disturbing the peace and $10 for resisting arrest; James Howard, $25 for carrying a razor, and James Fogarty, who was charged with keeping a dramshop without a license, was fined $300 by default. There were forty cases in all.

AMERICAN HUNTING DOGS.

How They Are Superseding the English on the Scotch Moors.

"Few people appreciate," said John B. Allinger of Waterlo, Ill., "that in the Western part of this country the best breed of pointer dogs to be found in the world exists. I do not mean to compare our best hunting dogs to those to be found in England, as in the latter country they have animals which would entirely defeat ours in field trials. But nearly all their crack dogs are setters, and while we could make a respectable showing in England, their prize takers would be utterly helpless if pitted against our best dogs on their own ground. The reason of this is that, owing to the lack of water and the prevalence of burrs on our best hunting grounds, the intelligent, but delicate and long-haired setter has been replaced by the stronger and hardier pointer, and we have raised a breed of dogs which in the qualities of general usefulness are second to none in the world. Our Illinois dogs, which are admittedly the best in the country, have justly earned a reputation for endurance, scent and skill which has caused the attention of the entire sporting world to be directed toward them, and within the last four years several hundred have been exported to Great Britain. One of the best-abused Americans that now lives was the cause of the recognition of the superiority of our pointers, Mr. Ross Winans. His deer forest in Scotland and the manner in which he has managed it have been sufficiently advertised, but on his grouse moors he has made the reputation of our American hunting dogs. He had half a dozen pointers from Illinois, and the manner in which they wearied out three or four different sets of English dogs in a day's work opened the eyes of the British sportsmen and caused them to doubt the reliability of the short field trials, which had previously been regarded as conclusive. In the small, well-watered, well-kept English coverts, where the game lies close, the thoroughly trained English and Irish setters can more than hold their own, but on the barren Scotch moors, against the wild, black game, they quickly gave in and were useless after an hour or two, while the American dogs were as fresh as ever. The consequence is that the exportation of blooded dogs has during the last year equaled or even exceeded their importation, and that the indications are that within a few years the American pointer will entirely replace the English setter. I make a business of breeding dogs, and within the last eight months have sold more than thirty to English purchasers, and some other dog fanciers have done even better. From what I have seen I should say that over one thousand American dogs are now on the Scotch moors, and the number is monthly increasing."

OFF FOR 'FRISCO.

Prof. Woodward's Party and Other Excursionists to the Teachers' Convention.

A large party of teachers from St. Louis will leave on the 3d of July by a special train for San Francisco to attend the convention of the American Teachers' Association to be opened there on July 11. Prof. C. M. Woodward takes along a private party which consists of the following persons: Mrs. C. M. Woodward, Prof. H. W. Gale, C. M. Woodward, Miss Belle Barron, Miss J. C. Locke, Miss Mabel Wilson, Mrs. Marie Eddy, Miss Mary McCulloch, Miss Boeck, Miss A. C. Fruchte, Mrs. Mary Coleman, Mrs. J. H. Rhea, Miss L. A. Barker, Miss Belle Baker, Miss S. T. Martin, Mrs. E. V. Baker, Miss Jennie Jones, Miss Abby Tower, Mrs. J. A. Wangler, Miss Cate Hackstaff, Mrs. Hays, Miss Cordelia M. Schieffer, Mrs. J. C. Thom, Mr. G. W. Krall, Mrs. Geo. Y. Bart. They will stop over one day at Denver for a trip to Clear Creek, Idaho Springs and the "Loop;" one day at Salt Lake City to visit the sights in the vicinity, and then go to San Francisco to attend to the work in the convention. The St. Louis public schools and the Manual Training School will have large and complete exhibits of their work displayed. The public school exhibit, which consists of every variety of the work done in the school from the Kindergarten through the Normal School, is the one that was on exhibition at the Polytechnic Building here some time ago. It is in charge of Miss Mary McCulloch, Supervisor of Kindergartens, who, with the assistance of Miss Mabel Wilson, looks after the Kindergarten Department, and Miss Josephine Locke, Supervisor of Drawing, who looks after the extensive drawing exhibit. The Manual Training School exhibit, which is the finest they have yet turned out, will be under the care of Geo. L. Bast, who won the medal this year for excellence in his work in the school.

The teachers feel confident that the St. Louis work will receive the highest award of any at the convention, as it is the work of two of the most complete school systems in the United States.

Prof. Woodward's party goes in a special Pullman. Mr. Pullman is much interested in manual training himself, and is very friendly to the local school. The party will take rooms at the Grand Hotel.

The Kane-Heffernan Wedding.

Rev. Father Walsh, pastor of St. Bridget's Church, who refused to perform the marriage ceremony for Mr. Wm. Kane and Miss Mollie Heffernan, Thursday evening after the bridal party had assembled in the church said to-day that he had ascertained positively that Mr. Kane was the same party who had obtained a divorce in Judge Dillon's court Tuesday, on which account it was that he refused to marry them. The couple, Father Walsh said, had not been married by any other priest as far as he could ascertain, and he was decidedly of the opinion that no Catholic clergyman had performed the ceremony. The marriage license issued to the parties has not yet been returned to the Recorder's office.

A Clothes-Line Fight.

A clothes-line fight, in which Mrs. Deistalkamp of No. 2223 Cherokee street was the defendant, occupied considerable time in Judge Cady's court this morning. Mrs. Mary A. Locke lives in the house with her and the two use the same attic. Mrs. Deistalkamp claims Mrs. Locke had her articles scattered about in the attic and she threw Mrs. Locke's clothes about. The sister of Mrs. Locke took up the quarrel and she and Mrs. Deistalkamp engaged in a fist fight. That was all right, but when Mrs. Deistalkamp commenced to reflect upon the virtue of Mrs. Locke she took the matter into court. Mrs. Deistalkamp was fined $5 but appealed the case.

Mullanphy Board's Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Mullanphy Board will be held Monday evening. The five newly appointed members, Judge Cronan, Bernard O'Reilly, John A. McGinney, Fred Arendes and M. J. Cullen will take their seats and the annual election of officers will be held. The indications are that President P. H. Degnan and Vice-President Cronan will be re-elected. During the coming year the Board will expend $12,000 in putting up new buildings. Two dwelling houses will be erected, one on North Eighth street and the other in Carondelet.

A SAFE ROW.

How Max Frankel and H. F. Stanley Settled a Business Difficulty.

Max Frankel, employed with the Mossler Safe Co. at No. 308 North Third street, swore out an assault and battery warrant this morning in Justice Sheehan's court against H. F. Stanley, manager of the Halliday Safe Co., No. 411 North Third street. According to Mr. Stanley's story the row grew out of a business transaction. Mr. Stanley said: "It was this way. Day before yesterday I sold a large safe to one of our customers whom Frankel was after for the same purpose. I made better terms than the Mossler company, and so got the order. Mr. Frankel, very much displeased, went around to the customer to talk the matter over with him. Among other things he said he told the customer that he should not have bought the safe from our firm, as the manager of it was a thief and a liar. This the party told me, assuring me that Mr. Frankel had said it. I then went around to the Mossler Company store, No. 308 North Third street, to ask Mr. Frankel if he had made such a statement about me and if he had, why he had done so. I went into the store and found no one there except Mr. Frankel, his brother and a boy about 16 years old. As soon as Frankel saw me he ordered me out of the store. I refused to go, when he tried to push me out, striking at me at the same time. In self-protection, as he was right up against me, I clinched with him, and we wrestled about the office for nearly a minute. Finally we both fell to the floor, Mr. Frankel underneath. Then his brother took a hand in the affair, and rolled me off on to the floor, kicking me in the ribs at the same time. I scrambled to my feet and then we had another sufile, the boy this time joining the other two. Seeing that the odds were too great and that I would be worsted if I continued I got out as fast as I could and went back to the store, determined to let the matter rest. This morning I was arrested and gave bond to appear at the proper time." Mr. Frankel, on the other hand, swears in the warrant that Mr. Stanley set upon and beat him without just cause, and demands protection under the law. The case will come to trial next week.

"SHE WROTE NOVELS."

The Occupation of a Child Whose Mother's House Was Flooded by the High Water.

The straits of poverty often bring some queer characters into notice. Destitution consequent upon the high water brought a character of this kind to the notice of Judge J. D. Finney, Secretary of the Mullanphy Board, yesterday. A woman named Annie Tipkemper, who came from Ohio and rented a house at the foot of Dorcas street, was brought to the Mullanphy Board's office along with her chubby little girl about 15 years of age by a police officer about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The tale that they told was that the water had flooded their home and that they were in destitute circumstances, but that if money was provided them to get to Omaha their sufferings would be at an end, as they had friends there who would see that they did not want. When asked what she had been doing for a living the woman answered that she had been performing all kinds of work to get enough to keep them.

"What does your daughter do?" asked the Secretary.

"Oh, she writes novels," was the startling information given.

"Novels!"

"Yes. Do you want to see some of them?" and without waiting for a reply the woman took a lot of manuscript from a satchel which she had and dumped it on the secretary's desk.

"I read one of them, a romance, the scene of which was laid in Scotland," said Mr. Finney this morning, "and do you know it was good, considering the age of the writer, of course."

Transportation to Omaha will be furnished the couple.

EAST ST. LOUIS.

Hugh Jones was arrested this morning on a charge of assault and battery on complaint of J. O. Faughner.

George S. McGrew, a prominent farmer, who was thrown from his wagon a few days ago, injured his spine so severely that the upper part of his body has been paralyzed.

Anthony McGuirly, residing on Fifth street, between St. Louis and Illinois Avenues, was bitten severely this morning by a fierce dog outside of the city limits on the Narrow Gauge road. Dr. Williams is attending him.

Contrary to the reports made, the picnic of the Sons of Veterans will take place to-morrow at Starkel's Park. There will be a parade of the camp, visitors and G. A. R. posts headed by the East St. Louis Cornet Band.

At East Carondelet a 13-year-old boy of Jacob Schultz pointed a shotgun at his little brother and the gun was accidentally discharged, inflicting a frightful wound in the child's face. The physician thinks he may recover.

The school election of teachers of the Brooklyn School took place yesterday. C. B. Jones was appointed principal; James A. Beasely, first assistant, and Miss L. G. Barbour of Alton, second assistant. The above named are all colored.

E. Heidenberg, who is under arrest for selling liquor without a license, applied an injunction to-day. The city appealed to Judge Walk this morning to lay aside the injunction, and the case therefore will be continued for another week.

Mrs. Knight from Indianapolis died in this city yesterday afternoon. She was the mother-in-law of Martin Docherties, an employe of Miselberg's mill. Mrs. Knight had reached the advanced age of 70, and her death resulted from general debility.

Inherited Diseases.

In the realm of disease the facts of inheritance are most numerous and are daily accumulating. Here, alas, they become terrible, fateful and overwhelming. No fact of nature is more pregnant with awful meaning than the fact of the inheritance of disease. It meets the physician on his daily rounds, paralyzing his art and filling him with dismay. The legend of the ancient Greeks pictures the Furies as pursuing families from generation to generation, rendering them desolate. The Furies still ply their work of terrror and death, but they are not now clothed in the garb of superstition, but appear in the more intelligible but no less awful form of hereditary disease.

Modern science, which has illuminated so many dark corners of nature, has shed a new light on the ominous words of the Scriptures, "The sins of the fathers shall be visited upon the children unto the third and fourth generation." Instances of hereditary disease abound. Fifty per cent of cases of consumption, that fearful destroyer of families, of cancer and scrofula, run in families through inheritance. Insanity is hereditary in a marked degree, but, fortunately, like many other hereditary diseases, tends to wear itself out, the stock becoming extinct. A distinguished scientist truly says: "No organ or texture of the body is exempt from the chance of being the subject of hereditary disease." Probably more chronic diseases, which permanently modify the structure and functions of the body, are more or less liable to be inherited. The important and far-reaching practical deductions from such facts—affecting so powerfully the happiness of individuals and families and the collective welfare of the nation—are obvious to reflecting minds, and the best means for preventing or curing these diseases is a subject of intense interest to all. Fortunately nature has provided a remedy, which experience has attested as infallible, and the remedy is the world-famous Swift's Specific, a pure vegetable compound—nature's antidote for all blood poisons. To the afflicted it is a blessing of inestimable value. An interesting treatise on "Blood and Skin Diseases" will be mailed free by addressing THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., Drawer 3, Atlanta, Ga.

AT LOGGERHEADS.

HE IRON-WORKERS AND THE EMPLOYERS UNABLE TO AGREE.

veral Firms Sign the Amalgamated Scale, but Many Refuse—Failure of the Conferences to Reach Satisfactory Results—The North Chicago and Other Rolling Mills to Close Down.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Much interest was felt sterday among the iron men in this city in e result of the conference of the manufacrers and men at Pittsburg. Charles W. rchoff, editor of the Iron Age, who has ched the proceedings in Pittsburg closely, l to a Times reporter yesterday that "the manufacturers have been willing all along to make some concessions on factory rules and extras, but have insisted upon the $5 per ton basis. The committee from the men, after long deliberation, decided to submit their own scale and that of the manufacturers to the sub-lodges of the Amalgamated Association for the consideration of the members. A lodge vote was to be taken upon them, and if two-thirds were in favor of the manufacturers' scale it was to be accepted. If not, the men determined to insist upon the adoption of their own scale by the manufacturers.

"This action," Mr. Kirchoff said, "was a decided advance on the methods formerly in vogue. The committee from the men heretofore had met the manufacturers' committee and had decided their differences themselves. Under the new arrangement the scales in dispute were to go to the men, and the manufacturers were to be allowed to reason with their own men. In this way the manufacturers hoped to be able to convince their own employes of the necessity for a reduction. One advantage of this arrangement was that the two parties to the contact were brought directly into contract with each other, and the arguments of either side were not weakened by being carried through committees of a more or less partial tendency one way or another."

Mr. Kirchoff believed that the finishers, a more intelligent class of men than the puddlers, were acquiring greater influence among the men, and might to some extent counteract the influence of the loud-voiced and belligerent puddlers, who are always in favor of a strike as a means of settling a grievance.

NO CHANGE IN THE SITUATION.

There is no change in the situation this morning. Both sides are firm, and when the day turns go off this evening all the mills in the West but twelve, operated by non-union men, will close down for an indefinite period. A dispatch from Youngstown, O., reports the mills in the Mahoning Valley are preparing for a protracted suspension. Notwithstanding the discouraging reports received by the mill men they do not seem to be worried. Almost all who were spoken to believe the suspension will not continue longer than two or three weeks. A shut-down is always necessary at this time of the year for repairs and stock taking. The manufacturers, they claim, have used the same argument for years and always opposed the Amalgamated Association as vigorously as at present. Since the strike of 1882 the scale has been signed in conference with but one exception, and that was in 1885, when a strike was declared. One by one the firms signed the scale that year and the strike was over and the mills were all in operation within a month. On the other hand, the manufacturers assert that their mills are in good repair and that they could run all summer, but they will not pay more than $5 per ton for puddling.

In speaking of the situation, Charles J. Trantor, a prominent manufacturer of Cincinnati, said: "The conference committees have adjourned sine die and the mills will be shut down this evening. There are no hard feelings existing between the workmen and manufacturers. It is a matter of business on both sides. We can't successfully make iron with the present wages. The price paid for labor is cheaper in Philadelphia than it is in this section. The time time will come when uniform wages will be paid in all ports of the country. If the men here make a point to-day they will lose twice as much to-morrow by the operation. The manufacturers cannot retreat from their position. This must be apparent to everybody who understands the situation. My opinion is that the great body of the men would be willing to accept the scale, but they are led on by those above them."

The manufacturers expect a few to sign the scale, but they claim that they will be small concerns and that their signing will not affect the situation. At noon the Amalgamated officials received information that the scale had been signed by the Apollo Iron & Steel Co. of Apollo, Pa. This makes three firms that have signed so far, the other two being the Akron Iron Co. of Akron, O., and the Laughlin & Junction Steel Co. at Mingo, O. The three mills employ about 1,400 men.

A dispatch just received by President Keating of the Manufacturers' Association from the Kelly Iron Co. and the Bellefonte Iron Co. of Ironton, O., states that they will not sign the scale, even if it is signed by the Pittsburg manufacturers, as they can get their work done cheaper. Mr. Keating says the signing of the scale by the Apollo Co. will have no effect, as they were not members of the Manufacturers' Association.

Mills Closing Down.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 30.—The failure of the iron manufacturers and the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers at Pittsburg to agree upon a wage scale for the coming year, necessitates the closing down of the North Chicago Rolling Mill Co.'s plant at Bayview, and the few mills that have not been closed already will shut down to-night for an indefinite period. The single blast furnace that has been in operation will continue working. There is no issue between the local societies of the Amalgamated Association and the proprietors, but as a part of the whole organization they must do as the others do and await the outcome of the struggle at the seat of war. The North Chicago Co. is not a member of the Manufacturers' Association, but it is none the less governed by the action of other mills. The best of feeling exists between Bayview mill men and their employes. There has never been any serious differences between them and all the shut-downs on account of strikes or lock-outs that have ever occurred there, have been the result of differences elsewhere. Both sides will passively await the decision at Pittsburg.

A QUESTIONED COLLISION.

The Trouble Which is Being Settled in Judge Cady's Court To-Day.

John Jackson, the colored driver for Louis C. Bohle, the Chestnut street liveryman, was tried before a jury in Judge Cady's court this morning on a charge of careless driving. This case grew out of a collision between his hack, driven by Jackson, and an Olive street cable car, on June 6, and is of considerable importance, as three men were hurt in the accident and damage suits are apt to be brought against either the company or Mr. Bohle. Mr. Ellis represented the company at the trial while Jay L. Torry and Mr. Davis were Jackson's attorneys. Several witnesses were introduced by the company who claimed Jackson was driving down on the north tract of the Olive street line and there was a car coming east and one going west. The car going west rang for Jackson to vacate the track, but he remained in it and when close to him the gripman stopped his train to avoid a collision. In the meantime the car coming east had got up alongside of Jackson and as he went to turn out he turned to the south. Before the gripman of the train going east could stop his cars, it struck Jackson's carriage and knocked it against the other grip car. Jackson was thrown from his carriage and a passenger named T. L. Moss had one of his feet crushed under the grip. A couple of strangers were also slightly hurt. Considerable indignation was manifested by the passengers on the cars and there were some threats of whipping Jackson. Several men spoke to him very harshly, and a California delegate to the National Democratic Convention called Jackson a black ——— ———, and put back his hand as though to draw a revolver. There was a wagon standing north of the tracks at the point where the collision occurred, but the witnesses all testified that Jackson had plenty of time to pull his carriage off the track before reaching that point, but would not do so, although the gripman of the car going west had rang his bell for him to get out of the track. The defense was that Jackson could not get out of the track on account of the wagon north of it, and that he had to cut across in front of the other car. Jackson also claimed the cable cars frightened his horses and caused them to become unmanageable and run away, but some of the witnesses for the city alleged he was whipping up his horses and forcing them to run. At 2:30 o'clock the trial was still in progress.

AMONG THE BROKERS.

A Dull Market—Stocks Sold and Prices Obtained To-Day.

To-day's market was one of the dullest on record, scarcely any stock changing hands, and prices as a rule dropping.

'Frisco sold on the street at $1.40, some 300 shares being disposed of. On the floor it was freely offered at this figure, but the first sale made was one of 400 shares at $1.37½. It subsequently dropped to $1.35, at which 200 shares were sold, and closed at $1.32½ bid. No news has been received to-day from the mine, but the report of Vice-President Saunders as to the condition of affairs at the property has greatly encouraged insiders and made them hold their stock firmly.

Anderson was the only stock that showed an advance. Opening with bids at 97½, it rose under strong bull pressure to $1.10, at which 100 shares were disposed of. It afterwards dropped to $1, at which 200 shares were sold, but in obedience to the trumpet-like utterances of Sid Francis rose to $1.12½, at which the market closed. A letter has been received from the mine, stating that the ore is looking better than ever; 2 car-loads have already been shipped, and it is said that shipments will be regularly kept up in future.

West Granite opened weak, being offered at 30, 28¾ bid, at which latter price 100 shares sold. A sale of 500 shares was subsequently made, this being the lowest price touched by this stock in its varied history. The market closed at 26¼ bid.

Golden Era opened at 85, at which price 400 shares were sold on the street. On the floor 100 shares sold at 86¼, and 200 shares at 87½, the closing quotation.

One hundred Jumbo sold at 21¼; 300 Rena brought 17½; Cariboo was 13¾ bid, offered at 17½; 65 was bid for Juniper; 100 Black Oak sold at 25; 100 Wire Patch brought 36¼, and the stock closed at 35 bid; 100 Pat Murphy brought 71¼, and 200, 72½; Peacock was offered in 1,000-share lots at 5, 3 bid; I. X. L. was offered at 7, 6 bid; Buckskin was 6½ bid; 100 San Pedro brought 40; Dinero was offered at 15; Arizona was offered at 32½.

A letter was received to-day from the San Rafael, Mexico, that greatly encouraged the holders of the neighboring property, the La Misma, which is held in St. Louis. The letter states that a car load of ore has been shipped from the San Rafael, numerous samples from which assay 4,000 ounces to the ton. 480 tons have already been shipped, yielding at Mapimi an average of $600 a ton. The La Misma is on the same vein, and its owners are jubilant.

A rumor which has been going the rounds and causing a great deal of excitement is that last night the Granite Mountain and Bi-Metallic mines were consolidated. The report was apparently based on good authority, and was thoroughly believed in by its originators. Mr. Paul Fusz was seen at the Granite Mountain office and said, in reply to a query: "If anything of the kind has been done, I know nothing of it. I saw President Rumsey yesterday afternoon and he said nothing of the matter to me. I think that I would know it if there was anything in the rumor." An official stated that the report was without foundation, but a heavy stockholder said that such a move, although not consummated, was under consideration and might be made at any time. As yet nothing has been done.

The resolution to retire memberships in the Merchants' Exchange was overwhelmingly defeated to-day.

Selling the Dakotah.

It was reported at noon to-day that the big steamer Dakotah, the last of the electric liners, has been sold to a Memphis company. Commodore P. P. Manion, the owner of the steamer, said that no sale had been made, but that parties were here from Memphis and New Orleans and it was more than likely that the transfer would be made within a day or two. The Dakotah is valued at $20,000 and is one of the largest sternwheelers on the Mississippi. The Wyoming was sold last night to Capt. Burt E. Linehan of Dubuque.

STOLE A MARCH ON THE DRYS.

A Local Option Fight in Arkansas—Judge Cate for Congress.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 30.—Conway was yesterday the scene of a contest for local option which was one of the bitterest ever known in the State. The Prohibitionists had determined that whisky should go, but the antis were equally determined and petitions were circulated and largely signed. The best lawyers were employed on both sides and two enormous petitions were presented to the County Court for action yesterday morning. The Prohibitionists demanded that Judge Merriman issue an order prohibiting the sale of liquor within three miles of the public school building. In the meantime the antis had sent out wagons and vehicles and brought in a large number of signers, who went before the court and demanded that their names be erased from the petition for prohibition. The Prohibitionists were defeated. They will take the matter to the Circuit Court. The antis say if any order is made in the Circuit Court they will carry the case to the Supreme Court.

Real Estate.

Terry & Scott made the quickest sale on record, fifteen minutes only, they say, having been consumed in selling the property, making out the deed and delivering the papers. The property belonged to the firm, consequently no outside party had to be consulted. It was a lot of 60x120 feet on the south side of Way avenue, near the Manchester road. Rudolph G. Moll wanted the ground to build on. He walked into Terry & Scott's office and offered $6.50 per foot cash for the lot, which was accepted, and while the purchaser counted out his money the deed was drawn and executed.

F. W. Mott has gone to Colorado with a party of friends. His expressed intention to return July 10.

The train from the East on the Bee Line was delayed, arriving at Union Depot two hours and thirteen minutes late. The delay was caused by the breaking of a journal of a freight car loaded with wire about thirty-eight miles from the city on the Illinois & St. Louis road. A wrecking force was sent at once, and the tracks were cleared of the derailed car. The damage was slight.

THE RAILROADS.

The Iowa Injunction Creates a Rumpus—Railway News.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 30.—The action of Judge Brewer of the United States Circuit Court at St. Paul, and Judge Fairall of the Iowa State Court, granting temporary injunctions against the Iowa Railroad Commissioners, is the principal topic of conversation in railroad circles. The officials of the Iowa roads are greatly elated. They profess to believe that when the motion is argued at Leavenworth, July 5, Judge Brewer will make the injunction permanent. The petition upon which Judge Brewer granted the injunction sets forth that the new Iowa law is unconstitutional and in conflict with the interstate commerce law; that it does not sufficiently define the offenses for which it undertook to impose enormous penalties on common carriers for charging unreasonable rates; that it makes the railroads guilty of extortion for making extortionate rates, and for which penalties are prescribed of not less than $1,000 nor more than $5,000 for the first offense, and not less than $1,000 nor more than $5,000 for each and every subsequent offense.

AS EACH SHIPMENT

is considered a separate offense, the penalties would so accumulate as to cause the confiscation of every railroad in Iowa. It is further averred that the law, in addition to the above penalties, gives shippers the right to recover three times the amount of excess charges on every shipment and the attorney's fees. Another objection is that the commissioners' schedule is made prima facie evidence of reasonable rates, which would raise the arbitrary presumption of guilt on the part of the railroads without giving them an opportunity to prove their innocence. It is also claimed to interfere with the interstate commerce law because the State rates affect the interstate rates. The proposed schedule of rates, it is charged, is unreasonable and unjust, and amounts practically to confiscation of the railroad properties in Iowa. The bill also claims that the rates adopted by the railroads May 10 were reasonable and just.

A DISPATCH FROM DES MOINES

says: "The point involved in this case and in which it is understood the railways depend for a final triumph has never been adjudicated in the Federal Courts. In the famous Granger cases, which went up from Iowa thirteen years ago, the power of the Legislature to control railways, fix a maximum schedule of both passenger and freight rates and to exercise a supervisory power over the roads generally was disputed. The court ruled against the roads. Now it is proposed to test the validity of the power conferred upon the Commissioners by legislation to fix rates. It is claimed that the act of making a schedule is a legislative act, and that legislative power cannot be conferred by the Legislature upon the Board of Commissioners. This is a new point to be decided, and it will be seen at a glance that it is quite different from the question involved in the Granger cases. In case the decision is against the Board, the Legislature might adopt a tariff of maximum rates and enact it as a law, in which event it would stand. If this case goes adversely no doubt the Governor will convene the Legislature as soon as practicable and urge them to enact the commissioners' tariff into law. The situation then would be decidedly interesting. The case will also be tried in the State's Courts.

Adjusting Transcontinental Rates.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 30.—The Transcontinental Association meeting is making slow progress in its work of readjusting Pacific coast rates. A special committee has been appointed to harmonize the Pacific coast classifications with the Western classifications. It was found that the latter could not be applied on all articles of Pacific coast freight, particularly on commodities. Consequently the special committee is trying to agree upon a special commodity tariff. It is difficult to adjust the rates so as to make them apply on the intermediate business, and some of the roads say that if the problem cannot be solved they will go out of the through business on special California commodities.

THE DIVORCE DOCKET.

Mrs. Cassidy Relates Her Domestic Experience in a Suit for Divorce.

A petition for divorce was filed this afternoon in the Circuit Court by A. A. Paxson in behalf of Annie E. Cassidy against William T. Cassidy. They were married May 3, 1883, and they lived together until April 27 of last year. In October last year Mrs. Cassidy consented to return to her husband, and the final separation took place a few days since. Mrs. Cassidy alleges that her husband treated her in a brutal manner, and subjected her to repeated indignities, rendering her condition intolerable. She complains that he abused her and her relatives without any cause or provocation; that he often threatened to whip her to death and she was placed in fear of her life. On one occasion she was saved from a whipping by the interference of her sister. Another time her husband took hold of her sister and turned her out of the house. He made a practice of getting drunk on Saturday and Sunday and spending all his earnings in dissipation. His wife further alleges that she was forced to take in sewing in order to obtain a means of support.

SAHR VS. SAHR.

The Judge took the matter under advisement. The object of the application was to have the parents declared unfit for the control of the girl.

Every young lady who was admitted into the hall was weighed, and if she tipped the scales at 100 pounds or more her escort was taxed 10 cents on every pound over the hundred weight, and in this way a snug sum was realized. A large and fashionable gathering was present.

About 5 o'clock last evening the residents living in the locality of Broadway and Loughborough avenue were thrown into a wild state of excitement by the appearance of a mad dog. Those who were on the street ran for the nearest open door for protection, some barely escaping from the teeth of the animal, who was running from one side of the street to the other, causing a panic for awhile. Officer John Murphy saw the brute chasing a little negro down Broadway, and getting between the boy and the dog fired a shot at him that killed him instantly.

Arrest of Gyp Ryan, Believed to Be Implicated in the Affair.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 30.—James Whalen, alias Gyp Ryan, who is supposed to have been implicated with W. B. Tascott in the murder of A. J. Snell in March last, and who had been seen near the Snell mansion for several nights prior to the murder, and since that time has completely disappeared, was arrested to-day at Manistee, Mich., by detectives from this city. His capture may, it is thought, positively furnish a clew which will unravel the mysterious disappearance, and may lead to the apprehension of Tascott. Inspector Bonfield is not inclined to attach much importance to the story that Ryan was implicated in the murder of Millionaire Snell. He says that the police have made no effort to find Ryan, and thinks that the arrest is simply an attempt to advertise the detective agency making the arrest.

I suffered for many years with these complaints and was cured by Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy." Mrs. S. C. Dougherty, Millville, N. I could find no relief, and had almost given up in despair when Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy was recommended, which I tried, and am now cured. It is the best medicine I know of."

The indications for twenty-four hours, commencing at 3 p. m. to-day, for Missouri are: Light to fresh easterly winds; stationary temperature; fair weather.

IT was while MORTON was our Minister at Paris that France first took her stand against American pork.

THE Kansas Republicans are wedded to prohibition, and a hard-cider campaign will be an abomination to them.

JOHN SHERMAN will not be quite so old four years hence as THURMAN is now. He will be young enough to receive his party's nomination for Vice-President.

ALLEN G. THURMAN is going right along with the prosecution of the Democratic ballot-box stuffers in Ohio. He does not let a race for Vice-President withdraw him from the performance of a public duty.

SECRETARY BEACH of the Missouri delegation denounces the publication of his $5,000 letter as an attempt to ruin his character, but no fair-minded jury would estimate the damages at more than 1 cent on each count.

WITH her bloody country-seat wars and her daily lynchings, Kansas is not making a quiet and peaceful record for the Prohibition policy. Such outbreaks in other States are usually credited to the gin-mills by Prohibition orators.

A PICTURE of MORTON's Newport cottage by the seaside or of the Huntington mansion on the Hudson where he received the news of his nomination would look much more truthful on a Republican badge than the picture of a mythical log cabin.

AN Arkansas judge has decided that hard cider is an intoxicating drink. At any other time such a decision would be accepted without question, but just at the opening of the present campaign it looks like a partisan decision against the Republican ticket.

THE papers of both parties are all lifting their hats to MCKINLEY for saying "No" to the Presidency rather than break his faith to SHERMAN. It is such a strange thing for an Ohio Republican to act that way that MCKINLEY became instantly the most famous Republican in Ohio.

BY uniting the historic name of HARRISON with that of millionaire MORTON, the Republicans expected to please the soldiers and money-changers, the East and the West, the men who raise the crops and the men who own the mortgages on Western farms and pocket all the earnings of the railroads.

OUR Republican Senate has again postponed the confirmation of FULLER's nomination for Chief Justice. This is an indication that the office is to be kept vacant until after the election, in the hope that some other name will then be sent in more acceptable to DEPEW, STANFORD and the other railroad kings who controlled and directed the Republican nomination for President.

THE New York Tribune declares that while THURMAN was fighting to remonetize the old silver dollar, "BEN HARRISON stood like a tower of strength for honesty." This kind of talk may do for goldbugs and coupon-clippers in the East, but the Republican orators will not point with pride to it in the West.

IT is only charitable to suppose that the Republicans of Missouri did not know what kind of a man FILLEY was when they placed him at the head of the Missouri delegation to Chicago. They had probably never heard of the receipts he gave to the good Dr. MCLEAN for Congressional campaign slush.

THE SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH to-morrow promises to keep up to that standard of excellence which has made it the best Sunday paper in the country. It will contain not only the largest amount of news but the largest assortment of news, not only the largest amount of telegraph matter, but the largest numbers of telegrams, the best reading, and the most varied reading, and it will contain neither faked telegrams to expose each other, nor bogus interviews to be contradicted by the victims. It will be a good newspaper.

IF the Democratic City Central Committee has no other object in view in its attempt to secure the registration lists than to insure an honest primary election, it can accomplish all it wishes by the method pointed out by Recorder WILLIAMS. If, however, the committee wished to control the election and to decide its result beforehand by using the Recorder's books as voting slips, it has thus far been thwarted in its attempt and all honest voters, Republican and Democrat alike, will defend the Recorder in his position.

EX-CANDIDATE DEPEW has reached New York, and is reported in the New York WORLD as saying of the grangers: "These "people put railway owners and employes "on the same footing. Before they saw "and heard me they thought I wore "hoofs and horns and breathed fire. "Everything is all right now, however." The grangers of the West are not altogether idiots, and perhaps Mr. DEPEW has been misinformed as to their state of mind before beholding so great a magnate as the President of the New York Central Railroad.

THE Chicago Tribune is a Republican paper with Democratic principles. It invariably supports the Republican ticket in elections but as invariably puts in all the rest of its time trying to convert the Republican party to Democratic principles. Col. MEDILL is as eager as any other Republican to obliterate the Democratic party, but he has sense enough to know that this can be done only by crowding it off its own platform and garrisoning the same with the Republican party. He finds "the evolutionary process of mental reconcilement" to this scheme very slow in the Republican party, but repeated failures have not discouraged him and he sticks to the ticket while he denounces the platform, and even while he charges that the ticket itself was foisted upon the party by "banded monopolists" and enemies of the Granger States. The saying that politics makes strange bed-fellows is most comically illustrated in the situation which forces Col. MEDILL to support the ticket dictated by the railroad kings on a platform prescribed by the monopoly "combines."

The Wife of the Republican Nominee.

From the New York Press.

No woman has figured in Washington society better able to fill the position of mistress of the White House than Mrs. Benjamin Harrison. Well-born, well-bred and well-educated, she has the easy charm of a woman of the world, yet without one tinge of cynicism or hardness. Given the dangerous gift of wit, she has never used it to sting or wound—one great reason for her personal success. There is no one society respects more than a clever woman who can hold her tongue under temptation.

For her bon mots and her claret punch, made after the "Tippecanoe" receipt, the wife of the Republican nominee is famous, and, be it said, she serves both with discretion. Mrs. Harrison is a little woman, plump, fresh and wonderfully young for one that assumed the responsibilities of life in her teens. As a girl she must have been exceedingly pretty. The regular features, bright dark eyes and abundant dark hair of the matron tell that.

The lady from Indiana has one of the greatest charms of her sex, a beautiful little hand, every finger of which is straight and shapely, tapering at the ends with a rosy nail. It is also very white and cared for as a lady's hand should be, not by a manicure, but by its owner. No such hand has been shaken in the White House for at least this generation. In talking Mrs. Harrison uses her hands to emphasize her meaning, and does it gracefully. Her eyes, too, are very expressive, and have in their depths a certain roguishness that is captivating.

Harrison's and the Party's Boss.

From the Chicago Tribune (Rep.), June 28.

Chauncey Depew was the big man of the convention—in fact, did bestride it like a colossus. Wisconsin, which was almost as unanimous and earnest for Gresham as Illinois, was flopped over to Harrison, although not a delegate obeyed the wishes of his constituents, who all desired Gresham after Rusk. At the last moment even twenty-two delegates from the Granger State of Iowa came at Chauncey's call and helped him nominate Harrison and slaughter Allison. Followers of the candidates whom Chauncey had decapitated faced about at once and gave in their allegiance to the strong-willed, astute, brainy New Yorker. Delegates hurried to get aboard when they heard the President of the New York Central sounding the whistle and ringing the bell. "Look out for the locomotive!" was the cry wherever Chauncey appeared. Hailing from a capitalistic State, at the head of the greatest railroad corporation in the country, backed up by hundreds of millions, enjoying the prestige of high social position, arbitrary of will, suave, fun-loving, story-telling, attractive, and able, it was not strange that Chauncey Depew proved the master of the convention and made it do his will. The others of the "big four" from New York came when he whistled, or lay down, or stood up, or rolled over when he snapped his fingers. Chauncey ruled the roost. Conkling is gone, but New York has a far stronger boss—a dictator whose behests men love to obey.

Mr. Curtis Stands by Grover.

From Harper's Weekly.

As the representative of the platform which we describe elsewhere, no friend of a reduction of the surplus by moderating the tariff tax upon the necessaries of life and raw materials could support Gen. Harrison unless he feared some grave peril from the success of Mr. Cleveland. This is an apprehension, however, which, although strong and natural in 1884, has now disappeared. Mr. Cleveland made his own platform in his message, and there has been nothing in his administration which has alarmed the business interests of the country. Gen. Harrison appears in the canvass as the representative of high and higher protection, and of free whisky and tobacco, rather than of a lighter duty upon any class of articles produced in this country. In other words, he is for an average tariff tax of 47 per cent instead of 40 per cent, and of a profuse and consequently demoralizing expenditure of a surplus, instead of leaving it in the hands of the taxpayers. His nomination promises a clean canvass. The offensive elements of personality which were prominent in the campaign of 1884 are happily eliminated, and we may fairly anticipate the discussion of principles and policies rather than an exchange of vituperation and scandals. This is a great gain for good politics, and in this respect the campaign of 1888 opens auspiciously.

A Bolt in Rhode Island.

From the Providence Journal.

The Journal believes that upon this question (the tariff issue) the Democratic policy and platform are right and the Republican policy and platform are wrong. It had hoped that the party in convention would declare for a reasonable revision of the tariff in the line of a reduction in the cost of the necessaries of life, the relief of manufactures, a more open market and a practical revival of our commerce. It has not done so. The Democratic party has. It is a question of national policy overshadowing all others. The Journal is not blind to the shortcomings of the administration of President Cleveland. * * * But it must take things as it finds them, choosing what it believes to be the right side of the main issue, preferring principle to party, practical wisdom to local popularity, and standing for what it believes to be the best welfare of the whole country.

Ben Harrison's Brother.

From the Nashville American.

Very few people doubtless are aware that Senator Benj. Harrison, who was nominated Monday for President by the Republicans, has a brother living in Tennessee. But such is the case. His name is Carter B. Harrison, and he is a farmer near Murfreesboro, Rutherford County. He was Adjutant of Stanley Matthews' regiment, which came to Nashville on the first gunboat during the war.

After the civil struggle he married Mrs. Lytle of Murfreesboro, and has since resided in Rutherford County. He is a Republican, but has not taken a prominent part in politics. He was for awhile an aspirant for the Internal Revenue Collectorship, but withdrew in favor of A. M. Hughes, Jr., who received the appointment.

Forced Into the Harem.

From an Exchange.

The great tenor, Masini, recently sang at Constantinople before the Sultan's harem. After his aria from "The Huguenots" a voice arose behind the screens, where all the ladies were hidden, and in perfect Italian style it sang the song of Valentine, which follows the tenor aria. The singer proved to be the daughter of a high official in the Turkish Court who had studied in Rome, but who had been forced into the Sultan's harem on her return to Constantinople.

Hayes at Chicago.

From the Chicago News.

R. B. Hayes was one of the Ohio delegates to the National Convention, yet no one heard of him and nobody noticed him. An ex-President of the United States participating for six days in a National Convention and getting no more attention than a yellow dog at a bench show! One man—a delegate from Texas—did speak to Hayes early in the week, but we understand that as soon as he discovered his mistake he apologized.

But When You Repeat Do It Elsewhere.

From the Philadelphia Times.

The following is the Chinese translation of the hymn, "Precious Name," which was sung the other day at a Chinese picnic. The spelling, of course, is English:

Yow fooling die yoong gaw him nay,

Gayung fong gy moo sum woon ning.

CHORUS:

Mingly bo; ining hing hayung;

[Repeat.]

His Brother Must Have Injured Him.

Burdette in Brooklyn Eagle.

"Mabel," said Henry, and in spite of his effort to control himself his voice was tremulous, and he spoke with the air of timid desperation which marks the elocution of a man about to ask for the loan of $25. "Mabel, I do not kneel at your feet" (and he wasn't, he was sitting bolt upright on the sofa) "to plead for myself; I come here only to beg you to think of my brother George. He—he loves you dearly, Mabel, and should you refuse his plea, I tremble for the consequences. He is all alone in the world, and he wants a sister-in-law. Will you not be one to him?"

No Wonder.

From Texas Siftings.

"Young Spoony doesn't come to see you any more," said old man Longcoffin to his daughter, Esmerelda.

"No, pa; the last two nights we were talking out at the gate, Smith's colicky baby across the street screamed so we couldn't hear ourselves talk, and somehow or other it seemed to sorter discourage him," replied Esmerelda.

Eminently Appropriate.

From the New York Post.

The presentation of Mr. Depew's name by Senator Hiscock was eminently appropriate as the nomination of one mugwump by another. Senator Hiscock was the Democratic candidate for Congress in his district the same year that Mr. Depew was the Democratic candidate for Lieutenant-Governor.

Most People Want More Off the Stage.

The San Francisco Chronicle demands more kissing on the stage—not mock kissing, but real resounding old smacks which shall electrify the audience and bring a death pallor to the pates of bald-headed men.

Another Veto.

From the Chicago Herald.

President Cleveland has now vetoed a bill to give a pension to a dead man. It was hoped that this man's hatred of the old soldier would stop at the grave.

Foraker's Self-Denial.

In insisting that the Republican nominee for the Presidency shall be a gentleman Governor Foraker is not only right but unselfish.

DOINGS IN THE COURTS.

JUDGE LUBKE DISPOSES OF A SOUTH END ALLEGED NUISANCE CASE.

The Wendel-Stupp Injunction and Damage Suit Dismissed To-Day—An Interesting Controversy Arising From a Machine-Shop Adjoining a Dwelling—Points for Business Men—Assignments for the Benefit of Creditors—New Suits Entered in the Circuit Court.

Judge Lubke to-day rendered a decision in a South End nuisance case, Peter Wendel vs. George Julius and Peter Stupp. The court dismisses the bill. This was a suit both at law and in equity for damages and for an injunction to restrain what the plaintiff claimed to be a nuisance. He resides on Seventh street, between Shenandoah and Lami streets, and the Stupp Brothers own the premises immediately north of plaintiff's property. Upon the corner of the Stupp lot at Seventh and Shenandoah, they erected and operated a brick-machine shop. On the western part of the lot they had a stable and on the southern portion next to the plaintiff's house they had a frame shed partly open, in which they placed a small 5½-horse-power engine, operating a punching and riveting machine and eight-inch shears for cutting sheet-iron used for bridge building. In November, 1886, the plaintiff instituted a similar suit in the Circuit Court and a decree was rendered denying the injunction but awarding $1 damages because the steam-escape pipe extending above the Stupp shed was not run up high enough.

In the second suit the plaintiff complained that in the operation of the engine the defendants caused the water from the condensed steam to be thrown upon their premises and against the north wall of the plaintiff's dwelling in such a way as to percolate to the foundations. It was also alleged that the operation of the machinery created great and unbearable noises and disturbed and annoyed the plaintiff's family, and injured the health of the family and the tenants. It was also alleged that the operation of the machinery shook the walls of the plaintiff's dwelling, injuring the house and the furniture. The plaintiff stated that he could not sell the property except at a loss of $2,000; that he had lost tenants, and that he would be ruined unless the defendants were restrained from operating their machinery and using the engine. Damages in the sum of $5,000 were asked.

The court found difficulty in analysing the proof upon the proposition of nuisance or no nuisance. The Court of Appeals has held that trades and manufactures must necessarily be carried on in a large city, and this cannot be done without some inconvenience to residents of particular localities, and it is not a slight annoyance which can give no serious inconvenience except to whimsical persons that will constitute ground for damages as a nuisance, though such annoyance may unavoidably accompany the business and may injure the rental value of adjoining property for residence purposes. If the alleged nuisance consisted in something which produced purely personal annoyance it will not offend against the law or violate private right unless beyond fair controversy it can be regarded as unreasonable. If the injury is slight or the inconvenience consistent with the locality and not in excess of that necessarily produced by the careful prosecution of a lawful business, the charge of a nuisance is not sustained. The locality is largely given to business purposes and no one but the plaintiff entered a complaint. The evidence did not preponderate to show that the noises made by the machinery sensibly affected the comfort of the plaintiff's family and his tenants.

The court was asked to solve the proposition by resorting to scientific writings on the laws of sound, and to take into consideration the principles of the telephone. When witnesses otherwise credible positively testify to actual observations made their testimony cannot be set aside because of the views of scientific writers. The case is dismissed.

Only Wanted His Money.

George L. King has filed a petition in the Circuit Court for a decree of divorce from Lulu King. They were married July 6 of last year. Mr. King alleges that his wife has subjected him to indignities, rendering his condition intolerable. They separated on the 20th of April last. The husband alleges that his wife called him vile and insulting names in the presence of other people; that she became frequently intoxicated, and when in that condition she assaulted her husband. She neglected her household duties, and when spoken to concerning her conduct, she threatened to take her husband's life. He further alleges that she boasted to the neighbors of her undue intimacy with a certain man and that she stated openly that all she wanted of her husband was his money. After she had secured that she intended to leave him.

Assignments To-Day.

An assignment for the benefit of creditors was recorded to-day by the Fred Yenkel Carriage Co. to Ludwig F. Hammer. The value of the assets assigned is placed at $13,000.

An assignment for the benefit of creditors was filed in the Recorder's office to-day by Henry R. Schoenbeck to Breck Jones. The assets are valued at $1,250.

Matters in Probate.

The will of John H. Smith was admitted to probate to-day. Small bequests are made to the relatives and the widow is to receive all money from benefit societies, as well as $750 for her support and $1,000 for the support of the child. The father and mother of testator in Ireland are to receive $300. The store and dwelling pass to the sister, Kate, who is appointed executrix.

Letters of administration were granted to-day to Louis F. Lichtenstein on the estate of Eliza Ellermann.

Letters of administration were granted to-day to Robert Rutledge on the estate of Margaret S. Merritt. The estate is valued at $1,500.

Notes in Court.

In the matter of the assignment of H. C. Eagan the Circuit Court to-day granted the petition of the assignee for his discharge, a compromise having been effected.

Judge Thomas sat to-day in Court No. 3 for Judge Barclay. Court No. 1 was only in session for a few minutes. Judge Valliant called the law docket in Court No. 5.

Judges Seddon and Dillon did not hold court to-day. Both divisions will be in session on Monday morning.

SMOKE CONSUMING.

Dr. Dalton, at the City Hospital, Has Some Evidence to Submit.

When the Mayor and members of the Municipal Assembly were about to leave the City Hospital, which they had been visiting on their tour of inspection, yesterday, Superintendent Dalton halted the visitors at the engine house and called their attention to the mouth of the tall smoke stack, from which the customary black cloud was issuing. Then the Superintendent spoke a few words to the engineer, and in less than a dozen seconds the dark pillow of smoke had died away, and was succeeded by just the faintest emission of soot, hardly a streak against the blue of the June sky.

"That is a smoke consumer with which we have been experimenting," explained the engineer, coming forward. "It has been tested for about five weeks, and it saves us 100 bushels of coal every seven days, or more than one-third of the total fuel consumed."

The City Hospital people are highly pleased with the experiment and pronounce the consumer or preventer a complete success, so far at least as it has been tried. What may be the ultimate effect on the boilers, which are of the ordinary kind, is yet to be demonstrated, but Boiler Inspector McClellan, who was present yesterday, gave it as his opinion that no harm would result to the machinery. The consumer is in use constantly at the hospital, and is only retired from service temporarily when its application is displayed for the benefit of visitors.

THE GILL-GWYNNE MARRIAGE.

No Ceremony Performed to Unite the Couple—Trouble Ahead.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, June 30.—The WORLD this morning publishes the following interesting account of the Gill-Gwynne marriage, brief accounts of which were telegraphed yesterday:

A small sensation was gotten up yesterday by the report that Miss Edith Olive Gwynne was married to Wm. Fearing Gill, a man of unsavory reputation. The lady is a sister of Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt. The strange story of a strange marriage is here furnished to the lovers of romance, and they may draw their own conclusions whether or not the lady has been married, or has been made the dupe of a mean and despicable creature for his own shrewd and mercenary purposes.

THE STORY FROM NARRAGANSETT PIER.

NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., June 29.—Although the season at this charming resort is still very young, the visitors of the Pier, particularly the New Yorkers, have had to-day a most startling sensation. In a very pretty cottage situated near the Episcopal Church, St. Peter's by the Sea, there have lived for the past several seasons two very charming maiden ladies. They are sisters, named respectively Miss Cettie and Miss Edith Olive Gwynne. The Misses Gwynne, or, as the report says, Miss Cettie Gwynne and Mrs. W. Fearing Gill, arrived for the season on Wednesday evening from New York and are now domiciled at their cottage. Upon the arrival of New York papers this morning, the first information of the reported marriage was made known, and of course created no little flurry among the guests of the several hotels. The prevailing question is, "Is Miss Edith Olive Gwynne married or not?" The lady in question is undecided, strange to say, in her own mind. The WORLD correspondent, after a half hour's hard work, at length obtained admission to her presence, only to be informed that she had nothing to say whatsoever. After a little coaxing Miss Gwynne volunteered the information that she expected her brother this evening from New York, having received a telegram from him announcing that he was coming. She preferred to make no statement until after consultation with him. She also said she expected Mr. Gill. With her sister the correspondent was more successful. She said most positively and emphatically that no marriage had taken place. She said also: "Mr. Gill called upon my sister on Tuesday evening last at our flat, No. 80 Madison avenue, New York. After his departure I was astonished to hear my sister say that she was married to Mr. Gill. Now this was certainly a most startling piece of information. How could my sister have married Mr. Gill during the past two hours when no clergyman was present, not even a magistrate. During my sister's cooler moments she said that Mr. Gill put a wedding-ring upon her finger and said: 'Now, according to the laws of the State of New York, we are man and wife,' although there were no witnesses present, simply 'two souls with but a single thought, two hearts that beat as one.'"

Miss Cettie is very much distressed over the publicity given the affair through the newspapers and says she most positively denies that her sister is Mrs. W. Fearing Gill. She is still Miss Edith Olive Gwynne. She said: "There has been no marriage."

MR. GILL'S STORY.

Mr. W. Fearing Gill, who arrived at the Pier this evening from New York, was, however, of an entirely different opinion. He says: "According to the laws of the State of New York Miss Gwynne is my wife. It was my intention to have married Miss Gwynne privately at 4 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon at the Little Church Around the Corner. I was late in arriving, and as it was raining, Miss Gwynne did not wish to leave the house. I then explained to Miss Gwynne the laws of the State of New York concerning marriage and told her that this little band of gold would make her my lawful wife, if with her consent I could put it upon her finger. Miss Gwynne consented and so we were married.

"It is my intention," Mr. Gill further said, "to have a church ceremony in September, and I have brought with me to-day from New York Mr. Remsen Taylor, whom I shall present to my wife."

Although Mr. Gwynne was expected to arrive from New York this evening he did not. It is expected that feathers will fly when the two gentlemen meet.

Developments are awaited with the utmost impatience by all who know of the case.

MUNICIPAL ASSEMBLY.

The Street-Sweeping Bid Rejected in the Council—The House.

At the meeting of the Council last night the bond of the St. Louis Improved Street Sprinkling Co., offered under the contract for sweeping the streets, was rejected by a vote of 11 to 1. The bid was considered high by the Committee on Improvements. The company asked 80 cents per square for sweeping the streets from July 1 to August 15.

The bill providing for the sale of surplus poll books was passed by a vote of 8 to 4. Mr. Comfort being the only Republican who voted in the affirmative.

The ordinance extending the franchise of the South St. Louis Street Railroad Co. for fifty years, was passed.

The Mayor's message, recommending the appointment of a commission to formulate a plan of municipal charity was received. Mr. Comfort then moved a reconsideration of the vote on the sale of poll books, and while the question was pending, several members left the room, leaving the Council without a quorum.

THE HOUSE.

The bill appropriating $2,000 for the Grant monument on Twelfth street near Locust, was passed last evening in the House of Delegates. The Water-works conduit bill was ordered engrossed. The bill increasing the salary of the Mortuary Clerk of the Heath Department to $100 per month was passed. Several bills were signed.

BLONDIN MUST GO.

The Aged Acrobat Gives Way to Kiralfy's Leg Show.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Chevalier Blondin, the hero of Niagara, will not again be seen at St. George, Staten Island. "Nero" and the wire walker can't in safety hold the same ground. Manager Kiralfy and Agent Parravincy have so finally determined after many thoughtful consultations. The relations between the former and Prof. Blondin and his agent are perfectly amicable, all reports to the contrary notwithstanding. The tall lasts, long guy ropes, and ascension paraphernalia, which should be permanently arranged, are in the way of the hippodrome. The ballet, were the wire-walking apparatus to remain as it necessarily should, would be partly obscured and the effect would present anything but perfect harmony. One or the other must go. It will, of course, be the aged but acrobatic Blondin.

TOOK A BIG BUNDLE.

The Water Rate Collector of a Canadian Town Skips With $30,000.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

MONTREAL, Quebec, June 30.—A. U. Duhamel, an official of the corporation of Longuel, a thriving town opposite here, has disappeared with about $30,000 of the town's funds. He had charge of the collection of water rates and has cleared off with the whole year's collection, so that the ratepayers will have to pay again. His principal mode of operation was to issue capiases against innocent persons and collect the cost from them for his own benefit, besides allowing debtors of the corporation to slip through his fingers for a consideration. Duhamel is a brother of Hon. George Duhamel, Commissioner of Crown Lands, and is otherwise very well connected. He leaves a wife and child penniless and has gone to New York.

A Hardened Young Criminal.

TOPEKA, Kan., June 30.—Sheriff Weaver of Lyon County has placed a juvenile horsethief named Charlie Roberts in the Reform School. The lad is but 12 years of age, but is a hardened criminal. The charge on which he was sent up was the stealing of a horse, cart and $270 in money. He was captured about two hundred and fifty miles from the scene of the theft. He has been a devotee of yellow-backed literature and attempted to imitate the examples of the mythical terrors and desperados. The boy's home is in Buffalo, N. Y., but he has been wandering about over the country a great deal.

NOT UP TO CONTRACT.

THE RESULT OF THE INVESTIGATION O STREET RECONSTRUCTION WORK.

A Committee From the Board of Improvements Reports on the North Broadwa Granite Reconstruction and Furnishes a Subject for Careful Consideration by th Board—New City Bonds—Notice to Householders From Contractor Hardy—Municipal Matters.

On the return of President Flad and Commissioners Holman and McMath the Board o Public Improvements will take up for consideration the report of the investigation the granite work now being done by Contractor Fred Skranka on North Broadway. The report has not yet been made public by the Board. It develops, however, that the work now under way is not being done exactly as required in the specifications, and leaves room in the minds of the property holders, who are paying the piper, for the suspicion that the shortcomings in some parts of the city may have been considerable, though passed over without notice or remark. The complaint in this instance was filed by Mr. J. K. Cummings, who does business on the street. He stated that he had watched the progress of the work and specified wherein it did not, in his judgment, comply with the terms of contract. Commissioners Holman and McMath, who were appointed to investigate the matter, have returned a report embodying the following conclusions:

"The curbing we find to be of good quality, and so far as can now be ascertained, set according to specifications.

"The material of the concrete could only be judged from the small portions taken out of finished work in our examinations. We discovered no ground of complaint. As to the quality of concrete, the eight places opened in our presence showed one good, four fair, one poor and two bad. As to thickness of concrete the holes showed * * * or an average of 7.1 inches. The total depth of the work at the several places was as follows: * * * or an average of 18.1 inches.

The granite blocks are found generally good in quality and fairly dressed. A few were deficient in thickness and a small percentage should have been rejected. Greater care should have been taken in selecting blocks of like thickness for the rows. And by so doing open joints would have been avoided. In other respects the work seems to have been done according to the terms and specifications of the contract."

The ordinances and specifications direct that the concrete foundation shall be eight inches deep and that the total depth of work shall be eighteen inches. The sizes of the blocks, as fixed by the ordinance, are as follows: Not less than 7½ nor more than 8½ inches deep, not less than 3½ nor more than 4½ inches broad, not less than 9 nor more than 12 inches long. The report of the commissioners, which finds that the average depth of concrete on North Broadway is 9-10 of an inch less than the requirement, will be the subject of consideration at the next meeting of the Board. The total depth of the work is in excess of the requirements of the ordinance. Mr. J. K. Cumings, who first directed the attention of the Board to the work charged deficiences into which the Commissioners only made a passing examination. The Board will either adopt the report made or investigate the work as a Committee of the Whole.

Early Displays.

Mayor Francis has ordered Chief of Police Huebler to repress pyrotechnic displays of patriotic enthusiasm until the 4th prox. Several narrow escapes from serious accidents to the occupants of vehicles have been reported since the youth of the city have brought out their supply of fireworks to begin the celebration. On Monday the Mayor will issue permits to the boys. Already hundreds of applications have been made for permits.

Notice to Householders.

Garbage Contractor Hardy has had drawn up a notice to householders which he proposes to have published in all "popular languages." It states the duties of the contractor under the ordinance, and explains that hereafter no garbage will be removed into which ashes, dirt, broken crockery, etc., has been dumped. The Harbor Commissioner refuses to allow the contractor to dump in the harbor unless he complies with the conditions of the ordinance.

The New City Bonds.

Comptroller Campbell was notified to-day that 500 of the $1,000 municipal bonds, which will be sold next month, will be received on Monday from the note company in New York. The Comptroller ordered 2,000 bonds to cover the issue of 2,008,000, but as it is anticipated that $75,000 will be realized in premiums it will not be necessary to issue all the bonds. The sale will take place about the 10th prox. The new bonds are thirty-year 4 per cents, and have sixty coupons attached.

"BELLEW."

Death of the Well-Known Artist and Writer in New York.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, June 30.—F. H. Temple Bellew, the well-known artist and writer, died yesterday morning at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Jones, on Long Island. For thirty years Mr. Bellew drew for different illustrated papers in this country, and his signature of "Bellew," inclosed in a triangle, became familiar throughout the country. He was born in England, and while yet a young man achieved reputation by his work on the London illustrated papers. He came to America in 1857. One of his early schemes was an illustrated paper called the Picayune, which was about the size of London Punch. Artemus Ward, then in the zenith of his popularity, was the editor. It did not catch the public favor, however, and soon suspended. Some time later Mr. Bellew, with several others, started Wild Oats. This paper lived several years, but went out of existence ten or twelve years ago. Since that time Mr. Bellew has worked for the Harpers, Frank Leslie, Life and other papers. When Texas Siftings first started Mr. Bellew did nearly all the illustrating. About two years ago he began to devote a good deal of his time to writing. In this he was very successful, but failing health interfered with his labors and for five or six weeks prior to his death he was confined to the house. He leaves a son and daughter, at whose house he died. His son is an artist and much resembles his father in style. His signature, "Chip," is often seen in Life. Mr. Bellew will be buried to-morrow in the Press Club lot in Cypress Hills Cemetery.

THE FAMOUS HELLMAN CASE.

Judge Shiras of Dubuque Denies the Insurance Companies a New Trial.

DUBUQUE, Io., June 30.—Judge Shiras of the United States Circuit Court has denied a new trial in the famous case of Sallie E. Hellman against the Mutual Life Insurance Co., the New York Life, and Connecticut Mutual Insurance Co. The three cases were consolidated. They are well known in legal and insurance circles and were brought nine years ago in Kansas to recover the policies held by plaintiff's husband. The issue is merely one of fact, resting on the identity of a certain body found soon after Hellman had insured his life for $25,000. He and a friend had gone hunting, and a few days later a body, alleged to be his, was found on the route the two had taken. The insurance companies charged fraud and claimed that the body was that of a young man who had disappeared from his home in Iowa. Two juries have disagreed on the case. The third trial was before Judge Shiras at Topeka, Kan., last spring. It occupied nineteen days and 123 witnesses were summoned. A verdict was rendered for the plaintiff in the sum of $37,000. A new trial was asked for and denied by Judge Shiras. The case now goes to the Supreme Court.

THE SUNDAY LAW.

FULL HISTORY OF ITS OPERATION UP TO AND INCLUDING TO-DAY.

Complete List of Arrests Made Under the Law and the Disposition of Such Cases—Only Three Convictions Secured in Court—Comments of Vice-President Blair of the Police Board, Chief of Police Huebler, Wm. C. Wilson and of the West End W. C. T. U.—The Policy of the Police in the Future Outlined.

The convictions number three, and were James Sweeney, Albert Henry and George O'Malley. In the case of George Solari, tried Thursday, the jury failed to agree and was discharged. The following are the cases, date of arrest under warrants issued after alleged violations of the law, and the disposition in each case as the records of the court show it:

As will be seen, there have been fifteen trials by jury, eleven acquittals, one hung jury and three convictions. The Prosecuting Attorney has nolle prosequied sixteen cases.

CHIEF OF POLICE HUEBLER

was asked the reason there had been so many failures to convict. He lifted his shoulders to express the depth of his ignorance concerning the matter. "Does the cause lie in the failure of the policeman to secure the proper kind of evidence or in the juries?" he was asked.

"In both, I think. Some cases have been very weak. The policemen were not careful enough about their proof. In other cases they have presented enough testimony to convict, but the jury would not convict. The law says a dram-shop keeper shall not sell, give away, or allow to be drunk on his premises any intoxicating drink on Sunday. So if on Sunday the policemen see saloons open and see people drinking inside they arrest the proprietor, as he is violating the law. The trial comes on, the policeman goes on the stand. 'You saw people drinking in the saloon?' 'Yes, sir.' 'Did you see any money pass?' 'No.' 'Did you see anybody buy liquor?' 'No.' Then the jury goes out and not regarding what the law says about giving away or suffering to be drunk on the premises brings in a verdict of not guilty. In some of the cases the saloon-keepers were selling without license, and so were not dram-shop keepers. The Solari case yesterday was the best case presented so far. The officers saw liquor sold in Solari's place, and they bought it themselves."

WM. C. WILSON,

the leader of the temperance movement in St. Louis, said: "I have watched the Sunday law cases in the newspapers. I have not taken any special interest in them. I cannot say why there have been so many failures to convict. It may lie in sympathy. Suppose fifty men are drawn for a jury, and I, as a lenient judge upon the bench, listen to the excuses of twenty-five who have sick wives, sick children, or other reasons for not serving on the jury. I excuse the twenty-five, being softhearted and amicable, and so leave twenty-five, from which number twelve are to be selected. Then of that number one is challenged because he is a prohibitionist, another because he thinks the liquor traffic is not a good thing, and so on, and from the residuum twelve men are taken. Then, suppose I am a prosecuting attorney with political business to look after, and I leave the case to the charge of some young fledgling just out of law school, and knowing as much about law as such graduates usually know—having, perhaps, opinions about personal liberty or the like. The jury may have views about personal liberty, too, and think that no matter what the law is no man should be restrained from selling liquor or drinking it when and where he pleases. I only suppose these things, and I suppose, too, that an acquittal would result from such a prosecution."

JAMES L. BLAIR,

Vice-President of the Police Board, said: "There have been but three convictions in over thirty Sunday-law cases disposed of, because the juries have not been willing to convict. I do not know that the juries have been selected unfairly. There has been some talk, but I do not know what is in it. The Judge's instructions have been fair. The last one was a little narrow, I think. He held that a saloon-keeper could not be held liable for the acts of his bar-keeper, who in disobedience to his orders kept the saloon open on Sunday. The law says a dram-shop keeper shall not sell, give away or permit liquors to be drunk on his premises on Sunday. Now if he should shut up his saloon Saturday night and not go near it Sunday, and some man should break open the door and run the saloon for his own profit I do not see that the owner could be held liable; but in the case of a regular employe who has a key to the saloon and who runs it on Sunday for his employer's benefit if contrary to his employer's orders, I think the principal is liable for the acts of his agent. However, we shall not try to make any more cases of that sort. The police have been so instructed. I think you will see a surprising amount of disobedience on the part of the barkeepers henceforth. There was one case the other day where in spite of the Judge's instruction the jury convicted. Or, rather, it was this way: The Judge instructed them that if they believed that the barkeeper had operated the saloon against orders they should acquit, and the jury, seeing through the story told on the stand, convicted. There are two difficulties in securing convictions in these cases. The jurymen have peculiar notions on the subject of personal liberty. Some of them are Germans who, having been used to the espionage of the officers in the old country resent anything which seems to be like it in this country. They forget that there the laws are made by the Chancellor and here they are made by the people. The Legislature decided that it was against public policy to allow the saloons to be kept open on Sunday, and it had authority to decree that they be closed. Then in most of the cases tried the defendant takes the stand himself and testifies to a state of facts altogether inconsistent with a theory of guilt. To convict him the jury would be compelled to practically charge the defendant with perjury. This few jurymen care to do."

"Will arrests be made as heretofore?"

"Chief Huebler knows nothing but the law. It makes no change in the law if 100 men are tried and only one convicted. The judge's instructions are law, and we have to abide by them. The policemen are instructed every Saturday in what has been done during the week, and are told what cases can be made and what cannot be made. We shall go right on. The instructions to the chief are to continue to make arrests as long as anything is left of the law."

"Have the cases been fairly prosecuted?"

"I do not know that they have not been fairly presented. Criminal cases are seldom as vigorously prosecuted as civil cases, for the reason that officials perform their duties perfunctorily. I do not say anything against Col. Claiborne. I will say this: that you cannot show me in an equal number of cases brought under any other misdemeanor statute such a small number of convictions."

A LETTER TO JUDGE NOONAN.

The West End W. C. T. U. held its regular meeting Thursday at the residence of Mrs. Meriwether on Delmar avenue. After the routine work was over the ladies discussed the Sunday law and the recent decisions in Judge Noonan's court. It was then resolved that the union should send a letter to His Honor. The following was prepared and sent:

To Judge E. A. Noonan:

SIR—A certain distinguished jurist informs the world that "Law is the perfection of reason, commanding what is right, forbidding what is wrong." Deeply impressed by this high and mighty character of law, the West End W. C. T. U. naturally feel a degree of pain and puzzlement whenever they see any part or portion of so great a power performing curious quirks and turns, running in and out, ducking and dodging, as if hunting for a hole to hide in like a rat pursued by a sharp little terrier. In the hope of somewhat soothing this pain and lessening this puzzlement, we venture to request you to give us a little light on certain legal problems which vex our minds.

1. We are informed that it is contrary to law to sell drams without license. We are told every dram-seller before he goes into the dram-selling business must procure a license.

2. We are informed that it is contrary to law to sell drams on Sunday, even when the dram-seller has the license.

3. Every week the newspapers give reports of the arrest and trial of dram-sellers for violating the Sunday law, and report that when said violators show to Your Honor that they had no license to sell drams their cases are promptly nolle prosequied.

We respectfully request you to inform us if a man may legally sell drams on Sunday without a license. We wish to know if the violation of the license law exonerates a dram-seller from the penalty due for violating the Sunday law? Is it one of the curious quirks of law, that high and mighty "perfection of reason," that the breaking of two laws is equivalent to the breaking of none, in reverse of that rule of grammar which says two negatives are equivalent to an affirmative. If it be legal for men without license to sell drams on Sunday, will it not be well to have this fact more generally known? Will it not be well to require all dram-sellers without a license, who wish to do business on Sunday, to put signs over their Sunday dram-shops as follows:

PASS BY, POLICEMEN.

NO LICENSE IN THIS SHOP.

This would save our policemen the trouble of arresting these men for selling on Sunday and save Your Honor the pain of seeing your constituents annoyed by arrests and the show of trials. It also would save St. Louis taxpayers the expense consequent on useless trials. In addition to these advantages, public signs of this nature would more clearly instruct dram-sellers as to the law's intentions and limitations. As Your Honor is doubtless aware, men whose business requires them to mix drinks from dawn to dawn are somewhat liable to get a little mixed in their minds on legal matters. Any help from the city fathers or the high priests of the law enabling dram-sellers to clear up a little will be duly appreciated by the St. Louis public. When it is well and widely known that any man may legally sell drams on Sunday provided he has no license to sell, St. Louis dram-sellers will suffer little or no inconvenience from the Sunday law. This enterprising class of citizens will then be able to arrange their dram-shops so as to do business every day in the week and Sunday, too, without the bother of police interference. They can easily divide their dram-shops into two parts, each having a front door; in one part the dram-seller may sell drams all during the week under his license; on Sunday he can shut that door, open the other, and his barkeeper may here sell all day without a license. By this inexpensive contrivance the dram-seller may continue to rake [illegible] shekels by dealing out to his fellow creatures the poison of alcohol, and the wife-beatings, shootings, murders, pauperism and lunacy consequent will go on, and law, that great "perfection of reason," will calmly look on and smile sweetly if inanely.

Mangled to Death—Fatal Sunstroke—McCoy's Trial—Texas Topics.

SAN ANTONIO, June 30.—Henry Lazenby, an ex-government clerk, was found dead yesterday afternoon on some basement stairs at a saloon. He was a victim of insomnia and used to wander around the streets at night. The little daughter of J. F. Poerner, a farmer at Dhanes, was mangled to death yesterday afternoon, her clothing being caught in a threshing machine. Marcellus Valpert, a stonemason, died of sunstroke yesterday afternoon. The court has overruled a motion for a new trial in the case of James McCoy, who was convicted for the murder of Sheriff McKinney.

JOHN SMITHERS, Col. McCook's gardener, had bleary eyelids for twenty years, was cured with only one box Heiskell's Tetter Ointment.

SCROFULA

Is that impurity of the blood which produces unsightly lumps or swellings in the neck; which causes running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which develops ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or "humors;" which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. It is the most ancient of all diseases, and very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can It Be CURED

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. If you suffer from scrofula, try Hood' Sarsaparilla.

"Every spring my wife and children have been troubled with scrofula, my little boy, three years old, being a terrible sufferer. Last spring he was one mass of sores from head to feet. We all took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and all have been cured of the scrofula. My little boy is entirely free from sores, and all four of my children look bright and healthy." W. B. ATHERTON, Passaic City, N. J.

WHY WE STAY AT HOME.

Due To the Only McNichols.

Why do we stay at home, you ask,
In the dusty and drowsy heat.
Lonely and dull in the town to bask,
In the sunlight that bathes the street?
Why? I will tell in the fewest words,
Such as you'll understand.
We seek no valleys or streams or birds,
Nor fly to the ocean's sands.

Once on a time we sought such joys
Like others with cash to spend;
We gadded about in a din of noise,
Where extravagance knew no end.
We had a room just four feet eight,
A ceiling to touch our nose,
A bed in which we could not lie straight—
And that was the least of our woes.

Seeing the world, my wife declared,
Mixing with great and high,
We hadn't a cent when things were squarred—
The bigger fools she and I.
What do we do in the summer now?
Why, drop in sometime and see.
Our home is an eden spot, I vow!
McNichols enlightened me.

Windows are shrouded and hung with lace,
Everything new and fine:
An Arctic ice-box cools the place;
In a folding bed we recline,
Baby sleeps in his dainty cab.
I'm the envy of all our clan,
Our house is fit for even Queen Mab—
All made on the installment plan.

Lucky man and smart man to know a good thing when he sees it. Who would endure the discomforts of travel in the hot weather when they can rest in such a home as can be made by

WITHDREW THE WARRANT.

Another Chapter in the Circus Row Which Was Described Yesterday.

Assistant Prosecuting-Attorney Dierkes has withdrawn the warrant issued yesterday afternoon charging Charles W. Phillips with being a fugitive from justice. The warrant was issued at the solicitation of Mrs. Lillie Scott, 'ho alleged that Phillips attempted to iminally assault her here and afterward in ist St. Louis. As he had gone much farther, cording to her statement, in e East St. Louis attempt, Mr. erkes held him as a fugitive, and vised his prosecution over there. Lillie is rapeze performer in a 10-cent show and her sband owns the show. She was up a short ie ago for fighting with a Mrs. Walters, the on-jawed woman of the circus. This is the how which was levied on yesterday. Mr. ierkes concluded there was nothing in the iarge made by the woman against Phillips, ence the withdrawal of the warrant. Mr. Scott, proprietor of the show, says Constable Hyde was mistaken in saying he raisted the levy. Mr. Scott says he was not present when the levy was made, and consequently could not have figured in the scene described yesterday.

Gen. Sheridan Transported on the United States Steamer Swatara.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 30.—The weather to-day is cold, damp and cloudy. If it should clear up this afternoon Gen. Sheridan will probably be removed to-morrow morning.

Gen. Sheridan was removed from his house to the Swatara about 11 o'clock this morning. The removal of the General was made at 10:55 this morning, arriving on board the Swatara about an hour later. The whole transfer was accomplished without the slightest obstacle or delay. He rested well last night, bore the removal excellently and is now in at least as good condition as before leaving his home. Through the kindness and forethought of Capt. McGowan every possible arrangement for his safety and comfort has been made. The Swatara sailed at 1:15 p. m.

Steve Brodie's Long Swim.

NEW YORK, June 30.—"Steve" Brodie, the swimmer, reached the Battery this morning after his long swim from Albany. He seemed to be greatly exhausted and was taken to his home. He made the trip in six days and one hour, or nine hours better than Boyton's time. The latter's journey was thirty miles less than that covered by Brodie. After a consultation with Al Davis and other sporting men, Brodie said he would challenge Paul Boyton to a swim from Cincinnati to Louisville for $500.

"BRADSTREET'S" REPORT.

Reviewing the Business, Money, Labor and Produce Situation for the Week.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Special telegrams to Bradstreet's from leading trade centers report general business practically unchanged during the week. Duliness and slight decreases are noted at Philadelphia, St. Louis, Galveston and New Orleans. Rains in Louisiana and Texas have checked trade some. Kansas City, Chicago, Louisville and Omaha announce a more active distribution in some lines. Railroad rates on dressed beef from Chicago to New York have been cut by the trunk lines from 65 cents to 35 cents, with some attendant demoralization in live stock and provision rates. Efforts to stop the troubles have been reported successful.

The price of hard coal for western delivery has been advanced 25 cents per ton, to take effect July 1, and at tidewater 20 cents per ton, to take effect July 15. There are indications that less than $30 will be taken in eastern rail mills for large steel rail orders. A final effort was made at Pittsburg late yesterday afternoon by representatives of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers and the Mill Owners Association to reconcile their differences. The Amalgamated Association finally refused to accept the manufacturers' scale and the negotiations were brought to an end, thereby occasioning a closing of all the mills to-day.

Mercantile collections are quite irregular. There is no special change at prominent financial centers. Funds continue easy, and although there is some decline at the West in the demand for New York exchange, the rates will favor the metropolis.

The mileage earnings of seventy-five railroads for May show an increase of 1.6 per cent over those of May, 1887, and are 10 per cent and 12 per cent greater respectively than the earnings per mile of the same roads for May, 1885.

The supply of poplar lumber is likely to be 100,000 feet short of last year in Louisville and adjacent markets, and prices there are firm at the recent advance.

In spite of the rate cutting by the trunk lines and continued unfavorable reports regarding the Granger roads the New York stock market was fairly steady, the [illegible] stagnation of speculation preventing any definite movements. Bonds are [illegible] in anticipation of an investment [illegible] July 1.

Money at New York [illegible] the July charges and disbursements have little or no influence. Call [illegible] 1@1½ [illegible]. Foreign exchange is [illegible] on a [illegible] inquiry; demand sterling [illegible]. Large remittances of currency have been made from Chicago for the payment of interest and dividends at New York.

There were 1,653,197 bu of wheat (and flour as wheat) exported from the United States this week, and 436,268 bu of Indian corn, bringing the totals for the year ended to-day to 121,101,059 bu of wheat and 21,831,877 bu of corn. The decline in shipments of the former is 20 per cent and of the latter 50 per cent. No. 2 red wheat closed at 89c delivered, or ⅞c lower on the week. Corn closed at 54c delivered, a decline of ¾c. Oats closed at 35c, ⅞@1¼c higher on the week.

At St. Louis, Kansas City and Omaha cattle prices tend downward and the markets are dull. There is a good demand for hogs at the cities last named, with lighter offerings, but no material change in prices.

The week's rains have furnished an excellent planting and growing season for tobacco, and the Kentucky crop is doing well, except in the Burley districts, where successive delays and short supply of plants have reduced the planting to about two-thirds of the contemplated acreage.

Our report of failures throughout the United States for six months ending to-day shows 5,254, against 5,072 last year, and as compared with larger totals in each preceding year until 1882. The aggregate of liabilities is $55,000,000, against about $12,000,000, but the percentage of assets to liabilities this year is 53, as compared with 48 per cent a year ago.

Holders of raw sugars at home, influenced by those abroad, have held firm views and prices have hardened.

Prices of June coffee advanced 8@9c on "cornered" stocks in the face of the demand to fill short contracts for June deliveries. The jump was made on Friday, when three firms were found to hold the available supplies.

Cotton goods continue firm, prices tending upward with no increase of stocks. Woolen goods are unimproved. A good deal of machinery is likely to be idle in July and August. Prints are firm at the advance, and mills are well supplied with orders.

There is a firmer feeling in wool West than East, Ohio quotations ranging about 2c higher than prices paid at the seaboard. Arrivals at leading Eastern markets are light.

Wall Street.

NEW YORK, June 30, 11 a. m.—The stock market was as usual intensely dull at the opening this morning, but the first prices among the stocks traded in were generally small fractions higher than last evening's closing figures, and Union Pacific, which showed the largest gain, was up ⅜ per cent. There was no animation outside of Union Pacific, Lake Shore and St. Paul, and while there was a tendency to advance further during the early dealings, especially in the first two stocks named, the market soon developed a heavy tone and prices sagged off. Declines during the hour extended to ½ per cent, New England and St. Paul leading, but no special feature marked the dealings, and at 11 o'clock the market was very dull and heavy at the lowest prices reached.

Noon—Money easy at 2, closing offered at 2. Bar silver, 92⅜. The stock market lost all character after 11 o'clock and trading was restricted to even narrower limits than during the first hour, and while the heavy tone continued there was no further progress made toward lowering prices, except in New England, in which the decline was brought up to ⅞ per cent. Utter stagnation overspread the list and the close was very dull and rather heavy at the lowest prices reached.

BOSTON, Mass., June 30.—Mexican 4s, 65½@66; scrip, 100⅛@100¼; stock, 14⅛@14¼; Allouez, ⅝@¾; Calumet, 238@239; Huron, 4@4½.

LONDON, June 30, 2 p. m.—Consols closed at 99 9-16 for both money and the account. United States bonds, 4s, 130; A. & G. W. firsts, 35⅜; do seconds, 6¾; Canadian Pacific, 57½; Erie, 25⅛; Mexican ordinary, 42½; St. Paul common, 66⅛; New York Central, 107⅜; Reading, 30¼.

Weekly Bank Statement.

NEW YORK, June 30.—The weekly bank statement shows the following changes: Reserve, decrease, $752,175; loans, increase, $3,278,300; specie, decrease, $302,500; legal tenders, decrease, $2,200; deposits, increase, $1,789,900; circulation, increase, $114,000. The banks now hold $27,017,225 in excess of the 25 per cent rule.

St. Louis Markets.

FORENOON SESSION—CLOSING 1 P. M.

The weather appears to have cleared up for good and there are no indications of rain in the winter wheat sections. In the Northwest heavy rains have fallen and wet weather may prevail there for some time. The discovery of Statistician Dodge of 500,000 acres of wheat in Kansas since the report of June 10 is on a par with the previous reports and the useless delay in giving the reports this month of spring wheat and oats. This addition is in a State where the condition June 1 was 95 and means an increase in production on that basis of 7,700,000 bushels. The total acreage of winter wheat is put at 23,000,000 acres and the present indications at 10½ bushels per acre indicate a crop of 241,000,000 bushels and the crop of spring wheat is reported as indicating 13 bushels per acre on 13,300,000 acres, or 173,000,000 bushels, making a total crop of 414,000,000 bushels. In regard to oats the department report states that since 1884 the area has increased 5,800,000 acres and that of wheat increased 3,200,000 acres. The department reports from abroad are that in France wheat, oats and rye on good soils were doing fairly well, but on light soils were not in good condition. Spain was steadily increasing imports of wheat. In Austro-Hungary crops generally were not satisfactory, and wheat was backward, thin and weak. In Germany the wheat crop was not expected to equal that of last year. In Russia the prospects were good.—New Orleans yesterday exported 43,218 bu corn for Liverpool.—The first car new wheat to arrive here this season came into Langenberg Bros. & Co. to-day. It was shipped by Dr. T. Blakeslee, Neodesha, Kan., and was of good, sound and plump berry, but so damp and tough as to grade "rejected." When auctioned off at The call it sold to J. H. Cockrill & Co. at 80 cents.—This car was about the latest arrival of car lots of new wheat ever known in this market, and indicates how very late was the harvesting this year. Parties in the trade say that the movement from now on will be large and steadily increase, if the weather remains favorable.—Elevator B of the Central Elevator Co.'s system, has its river warehouse all ready to receive and handle new wheat arriving by river. It has a storage capacity 30,000 sacks and 300,000 bu.—There seems to be a good demand for Duluth hard wheat, Buffalo millers to-day taking 100,000 bu and United Kingdom buying twelve loads in New York.—The Merchants' Exchange Price Current reviews the wool market as follows: Receipts of bright medium wools, similar to Missouri, continued in comparative light offering during the week, though there are advices of good sized lots held in the country in hopes of an improvement in prices. Texas, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado and territorial wools in general were offered and sold quite freely. As the shrinkage and scoured basis of these classes of stock become better known, there is less difficulty in effecting trades and a seemingly low price is soon understood to be full value. The slight improvement in the demand for fine grades has also helped the sale of Texas and territory, which are largely fine or fine medium wools. Manufacturers and others are still buying a fair quantity of the higher-priced medium wools, but confine themselves to wants and share no disposition to stock up; in fact, they appear a trifle more indifferent than they did a week ago. Wool at the London sales continues far above the importing points and the only purchases for America have consisted of a few hundred bales of indispensible [illegible]es used in the most expensive classes of goods. Eastern markets are quiet, with prices reported to be in buyers favor. No material change in the goods market. London, June 30.—Cargoes of wheat off coast fairly bid. Arrivals of wheat since last report, 10; sold, 1; waiting, 8. Cargoes of corn nothing offering. Cargoes of wheat on passage and for shipment firm, but not active. Corn—hardly any demand. No. 1 California wheat off coast, 32s 9d@33s; Australian wheat off coast, 33s; present and following month, 33s. Liverpool wheat, spot at opening very inactive; corn rather easier. Liverpool, June 30, 12:30 p. m.—Wheat quiet, demand poor, and holders offer freely. Corn quiet and demand poor.

Wheat receipts for the week 96,652 bu, against 135,450 bu last week and 343,204 bu same week last year. The stock has so far only decreased 17,300 bu. The market sagged still lower this morning. It was weak and heavy, yet not near so weak and heavy as might have been expected when all the bear influences were considered. Thus, probabilities pointed more and more toward settled weather, increased receipts were confidently expected for next week, as reports from the fields noted harvesting progressing and in southern sections completed, while the yield itself was said to be surprising in its abundance. In the latter the country appears to have gone from one extreme to another—famine to plenty. Spring wheat reports were extremely fine. Cables did not note the firmness of the past few days, and the weather on the other side had changed to "favorable for crops." Outside markets were all declining, Chicago showing most weakness. In sympathy our own slid downward, but with no selling pressure on top to force it down. Shorts were ready buyers all the time and took in nearly all the moderate offerings, few traders having the temerity to go long. The fear was felt that new wheat might not arrive in the near future as freely as some people expected, and that the condition would be poor, and this fear kept a good many from selling. August opened at 79c and sold off to 78⅝c, late in the session rallying to 78⅞@79c, but again falling back to 78⅝c and closing at 78¾@78⅞c. latter ⅛c below yesterday. Spot No. 2 red was lower, a short buying "spot regular" at 83@82⅝c and other sales to local millers at 83c in C. and 82½ in St. Louis and regular.

Corn receipts 95,270 bu for week, against 209,300 bu the week before and 293,115 bu same week one year ago. Stock has decreased 141,600 bu, principally through exports by river. The most glowing reports come from the growing crop and, if the final out-turn corresponds with the present outlook, the 1888 crop will be one of the largest ever raised. But you can't sometimes most always tell; future weather conditions may play sheol with this fine crop. But the brilliant prospects had a weakening effect upon the market; that is they did early in the day with Chicago's assistance. Receipts here were very small and the stock decreasing, with no prospects of any immediate increase in the movement from the country. August sold at 45⅝c to 45⅜c and September at 45⅝c to 45½c, July, at 45c to 44¾c, and year at 36½c to 36⅜c. Late in the session there was a reaction, and the close was strong, with buyers at 45⅛c for July, 45⅝c for August, 45⅞c for September and 36⅝c for year, which was about the same as yesterday. The spot market was firm. Local millers wanted grades of white, which were scarce, 15,000 No. 2 white selling in M. and clearing up that house. An export trade in a barge No. 2 was working, but not completed, and a fair order business was done. No. 2, 45¼c in St. L. and C., 45⅝c in M., 45c asked for U. and bid for E.; No. 3, 45c in C. and bid for St. L., M. and V., 44½c asked for U.; No. 4, 43c asked for U., 41c bid regular; No. 2 white, 52c in M., 52½@52c in U.; No. 3. do, 50c bid for N. and M.

Oats—Receipts for week 106,865 bu against 139,995 bu last week and 198,570 bu same week last year. Stock has decreased 9,600 bu. The deferred options suffered a slump in price to-day, the selling on fine weather and crop prospects carrying August ⅛c lower, from 23⅜c to 23c, and September ⅝c lower at 23¼c to 23⅛c, while year sold at 23c. July was better sustained as there were some doubts of large receipts next month and it sold ¼c lower, at 26¼c. Cash grades were dead dull, with No. 2 offered regular at 32c, bid 31⅝c, and for "spot" 32c was bid; No. 3 in M., 31½c bid.

Rye—A car No. 2 sold track this side at 59c, but the July and August options only brought 50c, with a couple of trades made.

Flour firm for patents and extra fancy, which were scarce and in demand, while the lower grades were very dull. Quotations: XXX, $2.40@2.50; family, $2.65@2.85; choice, $3.20@3.30; fancy, $3.80@3.90; extra do, $4.05@4.15; patents, $4.35@4.45. These prices are for lots on arrival at the depot or levee; order lots higher.

Bran higher and firm. Sacked f. o. b. boat sold at 60c, and worth 58c on mill track.

Hay—Choice feeding grades were wanted and strong, but mediums slow, and low qualities were plenty and about unsalable. Sales ranged: This side, Prairie, $9@11 for common to fancy; mixed timothy, $9@13 for common to choice timothy, $12@16 for prime to choice timothy, and $17@18 for fancy do. East side offerings (where the receipts are light) sell lower than above figures.

Provisions weakened some early in the day, but recovered in tone late. The usual Saturday quietude prevailed and the order business was light. A sale of 100-barrels standard mess pork "for account of whom it may concern" was made at $14.10 and cured dry salt c'ribs f. o. b., 7.45c, but to-arrive offered at 7.40c c. and f. here. Loose dry salt f. o. b. on cash orders: Shoulders, 6c; longs, 7.50c; c'ribs, 7.60c; shorts, 7.85c; boxed shoulders, 5.85@6c, longs, 7.60c; c'ribs, 7.70@7.80c and shorts, 8c. Packed shoulders, 6⅞c; longs, 8.30@8⅜c; c'ribs, 8⅜@8.40c; shorts, 8.60@8⅝c. New standard mess, in job lots $14.50. Prime steam lard, 7⅞c; fancy leaf, 8⅛c; second brand, 8⅛c. C. s. c. hams, 11@12½c. Breakfast bacon, 10@11c. Beef—Shoulders, 7c and family, $8@9 per bbl; on orders higher, $4@5.50 per half-bbl; dried, 10@13½c; selected, 13c per lb; smoked tongues, $4.50@5.50 per dozen. Tallow—Prime to choice, in oil bbls, 4@4¼c; choice winter, 4⅜c; No. 2 in irregular packages, 3½@3⅝c. Grease—Brown and yellow, 2@3¼c; white, 4@5c. Salt—Domestic, $1.05 per bbl on E.; $1.10 on this side. Ground alum, $1.10@5 per sacks; mall way higher.

Highwines unchanged at $1.14 in St. Louis, Cincinnati and Peoria; $1.20 in Chicago.

Lead held steadily, sellers asking $3.75 for chemical hard East side; offered this side at $3.72½; but no demand, as local corroders were not willing to par that and no Eastern buying. Desilverized refined was wanted and $3.75 bid, but no sellers at undey $3.80. Spelter better, selling at $4.30 East side.

Chicago Letter.

Private wire to the Redmond Cleary Commission Co.:

CHICAGO, June 30.—Beginning July 2, there will be no afternoon session of the Board until September 1.

Wheat opened unchanged, with Huchison a seller and after he and the crowd had satisfied a small demand there were evident signs of weakening. At 79c for August there were the usual number o stop orders, but limited orders to buy absorbed offerings at that price, and for a while the market was steady, but again Hutchinson's brokers sold freely, which carried the market down to 78⅝c. Toward the close Bloom and the crowd became a little bullish, and as there was no wheat offering they succeeded in recovering some of the lost ground. Hutchinson is such a prominent figure in wheat, and has such a following that it is preusmable that the market will go even lower, as he is very bearish.

Corn was weak at the opening from the fact that apparently every one wanted to sell, while the buyers were few and mainly shorts. The market strengthened up some toward the close, in sympathy with wheat, and because a good many shorts covered to even up for the week. Corn is a sale on the bulges.

Cotton.

The New York future market dropped back to-day, closing 3 points off for the old and 6@8 points lower for the new crop months, while spots were quiet. Liverpool was quiet with a moderate demand. Local market steady, but no sales reported.

CATTLE—To-day the market was almost at a standstill and closed early. There were some droves of Texas and Indian cattle in the pens of indifferent to good quality, but were neglected. Range and grass natives and Southwest cattle are too abundant and consequently prices are ruinously low. Buyers were around but did not care to take hold and only good butcher and shipping steers would have tempted them to operate. Transfers were insignificant and not worth mention. Stockmen have no pronounced views on the coming week, they saying they have stopped guessing.

Choice shippers, $5.35@5.65; good native shippers, $4.90@5.25; fair to medium steers, $3.25@4.00; common steers, $2.75@3.25; stockers and feeders, $1.90@3.00; corn-fed Texas steers, $3.50@4.25; grass Texas steers, $2.00@3.50; cows and heifers, $1.50@3.50; butchers' bulls, $1.4@2.00; veal calves, $4@7 per head; fresh milk cows and calves, $13.50@30 per head.

HOGS—The demand from butchers and packers for good smooth hogs was quite fair, notwithstanding it was the last day of the week. There was no supply, consequently no market. The few butchers offered sold promptly at strong prices. Good to heavy hogs of 180 to 250 lbs bring from $5.40@5.65. Grass hogs and light mixed dull at $5@5.25.

SHEEP—Common and medium sheep dull, while good muttons in demand and scarce. Prices range in extremes from $2@4.75 per 100 lbs.

The Romantic Elopement and Death of Thomas Cretelle, an Italian.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

NEWBURG, N. Y., June 30.—The killing of Thomas Cretelle, an Italian, in the mountains below West Point, has developed a romantic story. Cretelle was employed on the aqueduct work near Tarrytown and boarded with a Mrs. Carmora, who has a pretty daughter about 18 or 20 years old. The lovely black eyes, plump figure, black tresses and pretty brown face captivated Thomas, for he and Rosa, for that is her name, arranged an elopement and put it into effect. Thomas and Rosa not only left the Tarrytown digging together, but when they went some $25 of Mrs. Carmora's money seems to have taken flight also. Mrs. Carmora procured a warrant and the runaways were found at the Forest of Dean mines in the mountains of the Hudson highlands. With the money he had taken from his landlady Crettelle had used his newly made companions pretty well and when the officers pounced upon him his friends stuck to him. Revolvers were drawn on both sides, and in the general melee that ensued several shots were fired. The officers of the law were compelled to retreat. Newburg was then visited to form a posse of deputy sheriffs and Under Sheriff Pressler gave the requisite authority. When the posse reached the mountains again they found Crettelle dead. Now the Coroner is trying to discover who it was that killed the Italian. The only weapon the officers had when the melee took place failed to respond, and it is supposed that the man was killed by some of the men with whom he had been having such good times. Acting upon this theory, the deputy sheriffs were given orders to arrest all the Italians they could find there who were present at the time of the fracas. Two men named Steadmani and Bornotello are under arrest. Rosa Carmora was also arrested.

"HE HAS DONE HIS DUTY."

The Windy Reward an Honest Cash Boy Received From Millionaire Sage.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Several days ago Russell Sage visited the Broadway clothing establishment of Messrs. A. H. King & Co. for the purpose of rehabilitating his outerself in fashionable and seasonable apparel. After much discussion with the salesman as to the particular shade and fabric and an unsuccessful effort to get a reduction in the price of a $12 suit, Mr. Sage effected a deal by which his summer wardrobe was replenished by several suits of clothes at about the price that Berry Wall would expend for a fancy waist-coat. Shortly after the millionaire's departure from the realm of "bargains" in clothing, a diminutive cash boy picked up from the floor of the store a small roll of bank notes containing $26, which with commendable honesty he carried to the cashier's desk, where it was placed in an envelope to await the probable call of the loser. Yesterday morning, bright and early, Mr. Sage attired in his newly-purchased garments presented a worried countenance at the cashier's window in King & Co.'s store. He had lost $26. His identification of the bills found on the floor was correct in every particular, and the money was immediately handed over to him to his evident satisfaction. Mr. King beckoned to the little fellow whose integrity had rescued the railroad man from pecuniary loss and said: "Mr. Sage, here is the boy who found your money."

"He has done his duty," said the man of millions, and will find his reward in the future," and rolling up his wealth and carefully placing it in his waistcoat pocket, he took a dignified departure.

Death of John T. Dozier.

John T. Dozier, President of the Dozier-Weyl Cracker Co., died last night at 9:15 o'clock, at his residence, 3138 School street. The cause of death was congestion of the brain. An operation was performed on Tuesday, but it was not successful. Mr. Dozier was born in St. Louis County in 1832. He was on the Missouri River for a number of years as a steamboat captain, but in 1866 went into the business which he conducted in St. Louis until his death. The funeral will occur to-morrow afternoon from his late residence.

THE FIELD OF SPORTS.

HOW THE PLAYERS IN THE WESTERN ASSOCIATION TREAT THEIR UMPIRES.

A Characteristic Sketch Involving Omaha and Umpire Fessenden—A Brutal Prize Fight—Bennett Declared the Champion With the Revolver—Base Ball News and Gossip.

Mr. Gaffney, the umpire, is always a pleasant talker and never refuses to amuse his friends with stories of his experiences on the ball field. Gaffney was talking this morning at the Laclede Hotel about the $10 fine he inflicted on Gilks of Cleveland the other day.

"McCarthy was stealing third," said he, "and the catcher threw the ball over. It seems that his hand was about four inches from the base when Gilks touched him, but it was behind the base and I did not see it. I decided the man not out and Gilks dashed down the ball to express his unutterable contempt for me and my beastly methods. All I did was to say 'Ten.' That $10 will be paid, as every fine I have ever levied on a ball player has been paid. I have been an umpire four years, and in all that time the entire total of my fines has amounted to only $150. Of that amount $110 was put on Mr. Anson of Chicago, and was regularly paid, too."

This recalled something that occurred in Kansas City not long ago. The Browns were there and so was the Omaha team, which was playing the Kansas City Western Association. The two teams and the two umpires, Gaffney and Fessenden, were stopping at the same hotel. After one of the games was over and the entire party were sitting around the lobby of the hotel after supper the Omaha players, who, it would appear, are about the "toughest" lot of ball players in any six States of the Union, began to take Umpire Fessenden to task for some of his decisions. Comiskey was standing by taking in the talk. "Oh, you are bum," said one of the Omahas to "Fess."

This remark awoke the sympathies of the other members of the team and the entire party turned on Fessenden and exhausted their entire source of filth. It came in a steady stream and there was not a foul word, a nasty name, a hideous epithet or a blasphemous curse that was not used on the umpire. The latter sat there in his chair and talked back at the players using their own language. After the harangue had ceased Comiskey, who had stood by a silent listener, turned to Gaffney and remarked:

"If I was that umpire I would either turn away from that gang and not listen to a word they said or I would turn it and beat them to death or die in the attempt."

The next day Fessenden umpired the Omaha game and the catcher once remarked: "Say Fess, get 'em up."

"That will cost you $5," said Fessenden. After that the players called him every name they could think of but Fessenden imposed no more fines. This was a sample of what Gaffney calls injudicious umpiring.

To-Morrow's Great Game.

The Athletics of Philadelphia, enlivened and rejuvenated by the acquisition of two of the St. Louis Browns' old players, Curt Welch and Billy Gleason, will be seen for the first time this season at Sportsman's Park to-morrow in the first of a series of four championship games. They come this year a vastly different organization from what they have been since their historic battles with the Browns, whom they beat out by one game in the championship of 1883. Jack Gleason, the old St. Louis fire laddie, was with the Athletics then. Now his Brudder, Bill Gleason, is one of their stars. Both he and Curt Welch will be royally received. They will be escorted in a four-in-hand driven by Capt. Comiskey, from the Lindell Hotel to the park at 2:30 p.m. The baseball reporters and the rest of the Athletics will follow in carriages. The Athletics have in their ranks Lyons, who leads the Association in batting; Capt. Harry Stovey, the champion base-runner of the Association; Larkin, the heavy hitting first-baseman, and two of the greatest pitchers in the land in Seward and Weyhing. The Athletics are unquestionably the biggest sluggers in the Association. Seward and Robinson and King and Milligan will be the batteries to-morrow. Play will be called at 3:30 p. m.

Athletics, 3; Kansas City, 1.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 30.—The Kansas Citys and Athletics played a postponed game this morning. Score:

Grand Stand Chat.

Barnie is carrying sixteen men.

Buck Ewing considers Chicago's infield the finest in the League.

To-morrow's game will be called at 3:30 p.m. The gates will be opened at 1 o'clock, sharp.

The Athletics play the Browns Sunday, Tuesday and two games on the glorious Fourth.

Clarkson says he has not been able to grip the ball properly since he hurt his finger at Pittsburg.

The Browns still continue in the lead. In the words of Arlie Latham, it is a case of Ah, there! Stay there!

Louisville is trying hard to get "Shorty" Fuller, the crack shortstop of the New Orleans team. "Shorty" is a Cincinnati boy.

"Revive Us Again" is the song the Louisvilles are now singing. The Brooklyns are murmuring like the murmurings of the sad sea waves.

Deacon White may not be able to play for some days yet. His injured side gives him pain when he makes a quick movement.—[Detroit Free Press.

Mrs. Ferguson, mother of C. J. Ferguson, the late famous pitcher of the Philadelphia Club, dropped dead in her home, in Charlottesville, Va., last Friday.

The St. Louis Whites have turned black. The Sportsman's Park banner brigade now appear in the Whites' uniforms, parading the streets for the coming Brooklyn games.

President Von der Ahe will have the full Browns team (sixteen men) out in uniform to-morrow. The sight will indeed be picturesque as they march in military style across the field.

A. A. Stagg, the famous captain and pitcher of the Yale base ball nine, will, after graduation this year, become Secretary of the Yale College branch of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Col. Lew Harper of the Lindell says he is sorely taxed to provide for the Brooklyn club when they come next Friday. They are all bridegrooms and want bridal chambers. The life of a hotel man is not a picnic, after all.

Young lady at a base ball game in the last half of the ninth inning (to escort): "Tell me, Harry, what is that man in the middle of the square all the time throwing that ball at the man with his back to us for?"—[The Idea.

"Maria," said Brown to Mrs. B., "the married men in our town are going to play a game of base ball with the single ones." "Well, if the married men are all like you," replied Mrs. Brown, "they'll lose the game." "Why?" "They'll be too long in getting home."—[New York Sun.

"Do you like Browning, dear?" asked a Louisville girl visiting in Boston, and who thought she must converse on subjects with which Bostonians are supposed to be most familiar. "I don't think I ever saw him play," was the reply, "but I fancy he cannot be as good as Mr. Kelly at the bat."—[Pittsburg Chronicle-Dispatch.

Young Weyhing, a brother of Weyhing of the Athletics, is partially under contract to the Cincinnati Club. He is a left-handed pitcher and came here from Louisville for a trial. Yesterday he practiced with the team in the morning, and Baldwin and Keenan, who both handled his delivery, say that he has lots of speed, curves and drops. Young Weyhing will be put in the box in a championship game before long.—[Enquirer.

Pitcher Cunningham narrowly escaped being seriously injured at Ridgewood at a recent game. "Darby" O'Brien got a ball where he wanted it and sent a red-hot liner directly for Cunningham's stomach. It returned so quick that the wizard pitcher had scarcely time to recover himself. Making a high jump in the air he allowed the ball to pass between his legs. The spectators gave him a cheer for his escape.—[New York Telegram.

Yesterday morning A. G. Spalding was the recipient, by express, of a most original and unique design. It was an immense broom about eight feet long, gaudily yet beautifully bedecked with bouquets and wreaths of flowers and long streamers and bows of red, white and blue ribbons. On the reverse side of a shipping tag, attached to the broom by a beautiful ribbon, was the following inscription: "Broom to be presented to Detroit Sluggers, brought over by Cleveland, Ohio, Board of Aldermen, but captured by the Chicago Base Ball Club." On the face of the tag was written with a red lead pencil, "Please send to Mrs. Anson when you get through with it." It is scarcely necessary to say that the admirers of the Detroit team expected a clean sweep.—[Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Morris and Carroll, Pittsburg's crack battery, came home this morning from Indianapolis, says a dispatch from Pittsburg. They will face the hard hitters from Chicago tomorrow. Morris talked pretty freely about the disastrous tour which ended at the Hoosier capital to-day. Among other things he said: "Another thing that worked against us to some extent was the determination of the scorers to fatten the Chicago batting averages and save errors for our fielders. They gave hits nearly every time a man got to a base, unless there was a most inexcusable kind of error. In that 1 to 0 game, in which I pitched against Van Haltren, they gave the Chicago boys five hits where they only should have had three. Kuehne made three errors in that game, but they let him down light."

IN BENNET'S FAVOR.

Referee J. S. Sheppard Decides the Revolver Match Against Paine.

From the Boston Herald.

Yesterday, at Temple Court, Beekman street, New York, the parties to the dispute in the pistol shooting match between Paine and Bennett, held a meeting in Mr. J. S. Sheppard's office, and both sides, together with Mr. M. W. Bull, were fully heard on the matter. The final referee took the case under advisement, and both sides then and there agreed to abide by his decision. He refused to inform the parties to the dispute what his decision would be, but stated to them that he would forward it to the Boston Herald at the earliest moment. Last night the following telegram was received from Mr. J. S. Sheppard, Secretary of the National Association, giving his official decision:

To the Editor of the New York Herald:

Have decided match in favor of Bennet. Full statement by mail to-night.

JOHN S. SHEPPARD.

New York, June 26, 1888.

It is to be regretted that Mr. Bennett's friends saw fit to attach the stakes held by the Herald, as, by the articles, the Herald was bound to pay them over to the party decided on by Mr. J. S. Sheppard unless one side or the other had prevented the payment by legal process, and this neither side could afford to do with credit to themselves. Such an act would have been unsportsmanlike and actions of this kind are universally condemned by true sportsmen.

This much is certain, Mr. Paine took long chances after shooting three days without a formal protest, and his action certainly was a waiver of his right. Had he disputed the sight at the beginning and also the rule designating the time for each shot after the second shot was fired, his position would have been stronger than it was at the beginning of the fourth day, after he had fired 300 shots, with a lead in his favor. Certainly where one performs half of a match without objecting it is a fair presumption that all rights to protest are waived by him.

Chevalier Paine says that he will not object to the payment of stakes after the final referee's decision is made, and, this being so, all that now needs be done is for the Bennett party to withdraw their attachment and receive the money. In regard to Mr. M. W. Bull, who acted more as judge than referee, it is almost certain that he did not read the articles before he consented to act, for had he seen the clause that, though referee, his decisions would not be final, some of his friends claim that he would not have acted. In the dispute over the match Mr. Bull's decisions have been sustained. He should have had final powers in the first place.

Yale Won.

Yale won the eleventh annual boat race with Harvard yesterday. It was on the Thames course near New London, Conn., and the Yale crew won by twenty-four lengths, four miles straight away, in 20:10.

Harvard's Excuse.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 30.—Mr. R. C. Watson of the Harvard Advisory Committee was asked last evening what reason he had to give for Harvard's defeat on the Thames. He replied: "No reason whatsoever, excepting that Yale had a stronger and more scientific crew. It is the fastest and best ever seen on the Thames and the men rowed almost faultlessly."

Mr. Robert Cook said that the result of the race was a vindication of his course, and that his only regret was that Mr. Peabody's efforts for the Harvards' had not been more successful. The entire Yale crew, he said, joined him in feeling that if Mr. Peabody had had his way in the management of the crew and stroke, things would have been much brighter for Harvard.

A Brutal Exhibition.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Larry Hughes of Soho, N. J., and Chas. Johnson of Passaic met in an old barn on the east bank of the Passaic River, near Belleville, at midnight Thursday and fought eight rounds with three-ounce gloves, under Marquis of Queensberry rules, for a purse of $100. Frank Thompson of Paterson was referee and he promised to give a fair decision even if, like the referee in the Cusack and Murphy fight in the same barn a few weeks ago, he should be driven into the ice-house cellar after being trampled upon by a lot of Passaic sporting men. Thompson was a man from Patterson and consequently had the respect of the Passaic River.

John Curran was Hughes' second and Jim Huggard was Johnson's. Hughes weighed 142 pounds, and Johnson 139. The betting was all in Hughes' favor, and the Johnson men did not put up much money at the odds of $50 to $30. It was Hughes' fight at the end of the first round, but it took eight rounds of hard fighting to settle Johnson. He was battered beyond recognition when he staggered forward for the last round, and Hughes seeing his advantage rushed in and knocked him senseless with a blow under the left ear. Hughes was out yesterday, but Johnson lies sick in a hotel near Belleville.

Godfrey has wired his acceptance of the terms.
